UNCERTAINTY OVER ACTUAL FAR EAST SITUATION

'HOOVER WANTS TO MAKE IT HOT FOR COOLIDGE.'—WILL

(Special To The News)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 22.—See where Mr. Hoover has invited Mr. Coolidge down to Washington.

That's what I would call the last word in hospitality; that is to invite somebody to Washington in July.

You watch Calvin get out of it.

They are going to sign the peace treaty.

They want to sign it on the same day that China declares war on Russia.

Best news in the papers today was that Mr. Henry Ford was going to raise his lowest wages from six to seven dollars a day. And as soon as he can get kinder on his feet and get out and sell a few cars, he wants to make it eight dollars.

Great man, that fellow!

Yours.

WILL ROGERS.

Far East Reports About Situation Conflict Sharply

Manchurian Population Is Reported In High State
Of Excitement

(International News Service)
While the big powers continued their efforts today to maintain peace in the Far East, the actual situation in Manchuria was obscured by conflicting reports from this isolated theater of rival Russo-Chinese interests.

Persistent reports received by International News Service that Soviet troops had invaded Manchuria, occupying the important towns of Manchuria and Peking, were denied by Marshal Chang Hsueh-ling, military governor of Manchuria, according to a Mukden dispatch received in London.

Chinese Fired Upon
An earlier dispatch from Shanghai to London had quoted Marshal Chang as authority for a report that Soviet troops had fired upon Chinese planes patrolling the Manchurian boundary near Pogranichnaya.

Chinese Foreign Minister V. T. Wang told International News Service in an exclusive interview that hopes are still maintained for a peaceful settlement of the troubles.

The Manchurian population is reported to be in a state of high excitement.

SHANGHAI, July 22.—"Hopes of a peaceful settlement have not been abandoned. Alarmist reports of actual hostilities should be disregarded."

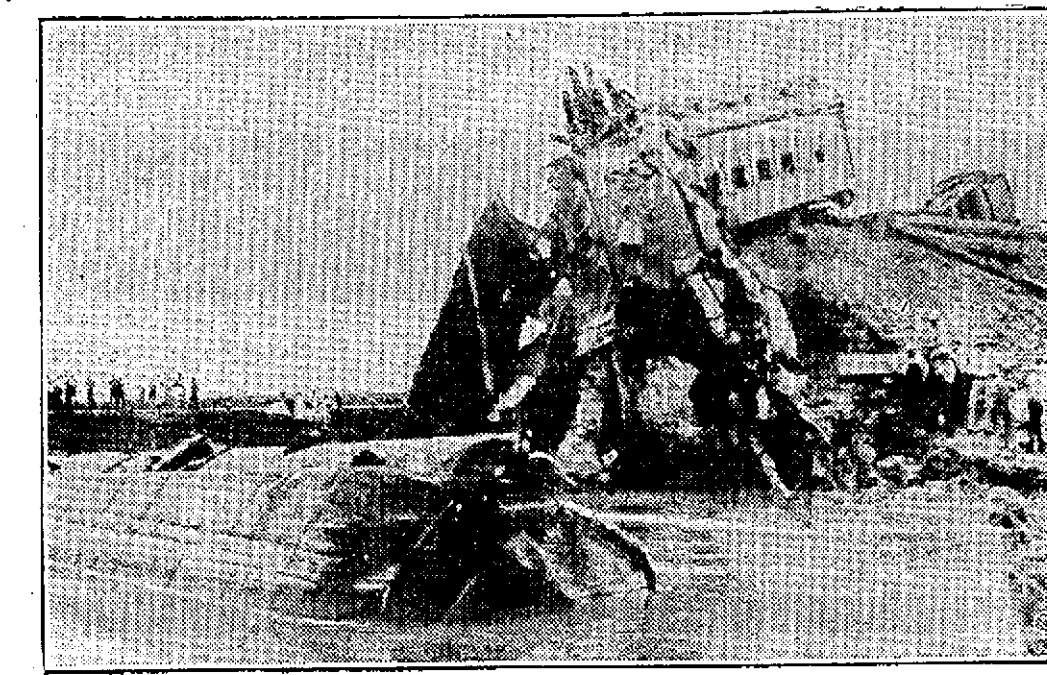

This statement was made to International News Service today by C. T. Wang, foreign minister of the Chinese Nationalist government, in an interview in which he maintained the optimistic attitude which had characterized his demeanor since his nation and Soviet Russia were plunged into a dispute which threatened to bring about war between the two countries.

China Hopeful
"Too much attention must not be paid to reports which have been received," Wang declared. "In the face of recent developments China still remains hopeful that the dispute will be settled amicably."

Wang's statement was made on the heels of an official manifesto from the Nationalist government in which Soviet Russia was held solely responsible for the rupture and the war which now threatens.

The manifesto, signed by the presidents of the five Yuan, declares that an insistent propaganda on the part of the Soviets had "undermined the Chinese government" and forced China to "adopt measures of self-defense" with regard to the Chinese Eastern railway.

Congressman Would Probe Necessity For Any Whiskey Making

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A congressional investigation into the necessity of reopening distilleries for the manufacture of whiskey will be instituted if prohibition officials carry out their announced intention of replenishing the nation's stock of medicinal whiskey, Senator Elmer Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, predicted today.

Declaring that there is no need for medicinal whiskey, Senator Thomas declared that he would fight to limit the legalizing of its manufacture in any form in the future.

With 22 states now prohibiting the use of medicinal whiskey, extreme drys believed that they can make a powerful fight in Congress against the treasury on this proposal.

"No one has advanced any sound reason for the necessity of medicinal liquor. Alcohol is the base of whiskey, and it can be used for medicinal purposes camouflaged in some form other than in whiskey if it is necessary to use it internally."

"Alcohol is dangerous in the form of whiskey," he said.

Wickersham To Explain Letter

Enforcement Commission
Chairman Will Explain
To Members About
Letter

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 22.—President Hoover's law enforcement commission met today with the controversial question of prohibitionist uppermost in the members' minds as a result of the now famous Wickersham letter, in which the commission's chairman advocated modification of the Volstead law to the extent of making the states take over partial enforcement.

Since the letter was made public, declaring that if the states would take over part of the job of enforcing the dry laws, "national and state laws might be modified so as to become reasonably enforceable."

Chairman Wickersham has remained silent under a barrage of questioning. Today, with resumption of sessions, the chairman has indicated he may make more clear his suggestion made in the letter.

Both wets and drys were agreed that the Wickersham letter had placed the prohibition issue before the committee squarely as the preeminent question to be solved by that body, and were hopeful of some move one way or another.

PHILADELPHIA HAS
LARGEST DEATH LIST

(International News Service)
Ten deaths, divided equally between the eastern and western sections of the state, constituted Pennsylvania's week-end toll from automobile accidents, International News Service's weekly survey revealed today. Thirty-four persons were injured in the series of accidents.

The Philadelphia district recorded four of the deaths and thirteen of the injuries while a head-on crash between two cars at Greenville, Pa., added three dead and two possibly fatally hurt out of eight injured.

One died at Sharon, one at Emsworth and one at York. In the first two, the victims were struck by machines. At Lancaster a child was hurled through a windshield when the driver swerved to avoid a collision with another machine.

Not Heavy Traffic
Sunday was warm but there were not as many cars on the state highways as in previous weeks, according to reports.

York—Girl killed when car in which she was riding overturned near Strimstown on Susquehanna trail.

Lancaster—Child hurt when hurled through windshield as driver swerved to avoid collision.

Pottsville—Two men hurt in auto collision near Schuylkill County club, Greenville—Three killed and eight injured in collision between two autos.

MARSHAL CHANG DENIES WAR MOBILIZATION PLANS

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, July 22.—A denial that mobilization to war footing has been ordered by the Chinese or the Soviets was made by Marshal Chang Hsueh-ling, Manchurian war lord, on his arrival at Mukden today from the Manchurian frontier, according to a Mukden dispatch to the London Times.

Marshal Chang reported "everything placid" on the frontier, and stated that the institution had been "greatly exaggerated," the dispatch declared.

A message to the Daily Herald states that all Russians over 16 years of age on the Chinese border have been arrested and held as prisoners of war.

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—A slim girl poised for a moment as she stood on the rail of the Smithfield bridge today, then hurled herself into the Monongahela river. Horrified bystanders immediately raised a cry for aid.

Capt. George Nottingham, of the Steamer Helen C. rowed out in a skiff and pulled the girl to safety just as she was sinking. After treatment at Allegheny General hospital the girl was questioned by police at Central Station and gave her name as Josephine Hatley, 20, of Bridge St., Youngstown, Ohio. She had stepped from a train in the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station only a few moments before she hurled herself from the bridge, she said.

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—A "ride" victim, believed to have been taken in a machine by members of a rival Italian clique and ruthlessly shot to death by a man in the rear as he sat with the driver, had been tentatively identified today as Risorta Lazaro, 35, of Cleveland and Sewickley Morgue attaches of Allegheny county today gave that as the closest possible check as to who the man was.

It was motive however that furnished the county authorities with one of the most puzzling murder cases to face the department in recent months. Why was the man killed and his body dumped out on the secluded reaches of Fern Hollow road, a mile from any habitation?

Officials Puzzled.
Phillip Goldberg, county detective in charge of the investigation today had advanced the theory that the many may have died in renewal of the Mafia warfare that took the lives of a dozen men here during the past five years. His cry of the feud revealed a bloody chain of killings and attempted murders and Goldberg was attempting to find whether or not the supposed Cleveland man had been involved, and if so what the connection might be with the Ohio city.

The evidence against this presumption was said to be that Lazaro was not known to have been connected (Continued On Page Two)

Street Car Company Refuses
To Pay For Abandoned
Track Site

Council today was told during a formal session at city hall that the Pennsylvania-Ohio Railway company will not pay for the repaving of that portion of West Washington street where one of their two lines was removed. The information was conveyed by local Superintendent C. C. Coulthard from C. S. McCalla, vice president. The controversy will probably wind up in court.

Council Starts Move
Immediately after the information reached council, Walter Tyler introduced a motion, which passed unanimously and which in effect directed the city solicitor to take such steps as necessary to require the company to remove all tracks where service has been abandoned and to put these streets in condition and further, to put Highland avenue track paving in condition.

Realizing that the difference lies between the city and the company, council passed Councilman Tyler's motion authorizing the proper authorities to sign a contract with Woods & Golder for the repaving of the city's share of West Washington street after which a first payment of $9,977 was (Continued On Page Two)

You may drive a car with the utmost care, observing the motor code, you may blow your horn when you pass a car, and stay on the right of the road, you may not exceed forty miles per hour, the limit that is allowed, but you're apt to get clipped most any old time by the carter Sunday crowd. It seems on Sunday that all the clowns are out on the road you drive, and you wonder sometimes as they cut around that many of them are alive. They pass on a hill, and they drive one hand, and try to go pushing through, but their luck seems to be old by some unknown chance, the weather is ninety-two.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Numerous New Castle and Lawrence county residents got a glimpse of the amphibious plane that went down in the city on Saturday. The plane was enroute to Conneaut Lake from Pittsburgh, taking a party of Pittsburghers for the week end. It is said that this plane will make regular trips between the two places in the future.

State convention of the post office clerks in this tin plate centre of the world is in progress today, and all indications are that it will be a notable success, to the satisfaction of those in charge and also to the citizens of New Castle as well. New Castle is fast becoming one of the convention cities of the state, numerous successful conventions have been conducted here this year, with several large ones scheduled for the remainder of the year.

Sentence meted out in the county court on Saturday should be a lesson to any who are inclined to tamper with fire alarm boxes for the "fun" of sending in a false alarm. This youth, convicted of sending in a false alarm will have thirty days in the county jail to regret his folly. The court served warning that jail sentences will be meted out in the future to any who are convicted of sending in false alarms of fire.

Announcement that a North Mill street site is under option, and that there is a possibility of another large theatre being erected there, is but another example of the growing importance of this city. Progress is to be made on all sides, and especially in the development and expansion of the business area.

Another indication of bettered industrial conditions in this section is to be gained from the fact that recently, advertisements have appeared frequently for laborers on various jobs in this district.

It seems to Pa News that persons who are repairing autos, or hauling trucks around the streets on Sunday, could find some other hour than just (Continued On Page Two)

Two Pittsburgh Men Arrested In Daring Robbery

Holdup Of Pittsburgh Athletic Association Is Foiled By Officer Today

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Two suspects were caught a few moments after a pair of armed bandits forced their way into the Pittsburgh Athletic Association today, held Queenie King, a maid, at bay with a revolver and took $548 in cash and $379 in checks from the cash register.

A. L. Cooper, night manager, told police he had been drowsing and was awakened as the door slammed on the escaping bandits. Cooper dashed unarmed after the men and caught one by the arm. The men levelled their revolvers at him, seized him and then ordered him to run back toward the club, Cooper said.

Edward Reynolds, patrolman on the beat in which the robbery occurred, saw two men running down the street, believing one man was chasing the other, the officer hid in the shadow of a tree and as they came abreast, stepped out with his gun and arrested them.

Police from Oakland had answered an emergency call, but before they reached him Reynolds had called a patrol wagon and taken the men to the station.

The money and checks were found on one of the men, police said, and both carried revolvers. They gave their names as Joe Viri, 34, and Tony Lusina, 21.

Lusina is a well known East Liberty boxer, police claimed.

at the time that services are in progress in the downtown churches. There is no occasion for such work. And this practice of interrupting church services with such useless noises should be stopped.

On Saturday evening you will spend between two and three hours washing and polishing your auto, and in two minutes while passing over the detour at East New Castle, through a dust fog that has 14 cement plants beat a mile, you take all the pleasure out of that trip, says a communication to Pa New today.

Young Pa New witnessed a wreck yesterday on the New Castle-Youngstown road. Two cars came together head on. The fronts of the cars were completely demolished. The road was practically blocked except for a narrow stretch but some one kept the one way traffic moving.

When Young Pa New was out driving yesterday he noticed a flame coming up from the floor of his car. Much excitement for a few minutes. Then along came a "friend indeed" with a fire extinguisher—brand new efficient looking one but it wouldn't work. After a few minutes Pa New decided to put out the fire himself. This he proceeded to do, and it was soon all right except for burned ignition wires.

Many motorcycles were seen in the city yesterday. They seem to be getting quite popular.

A party of women in a car on New Castle-Elwood were attempting to change a tire on their machine yesterday. Their blows with the hammer were quite ineffectual but along came a chivalrous member of the male sex, and the machine was soon on its way again.

New Castle is entertaining several hundred post office clerks and their wives from many sections of the state who are holding their eighth annual convention here. They are being royally entertained by the New Castle clerks.

Pa New noticed a truck bearing an Ohio license getting a load of shavings from the banks of the Neshannock, where the old lumber plant was located. Incidentally, someone dropped a match or cigaret butt in the shavings and the creek bank for many feet is smoldering.

CONGRESSMAN WOULD PROBE NECESSITY FOR MAKING WHISKEY

of whiskey to appease the taste, and to legalize the manufacture of more medicinal liquor is to recognize the need of whiskey for the purpose of appeasing the appetite.

Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran announced yesterday he would soon begin issuing permits for the manufacture of whiskey. About 2,000,000 gallons a year will be authorized, the first to be available in 1935 when the new product will have reached the required age and when the present stock will be exhausted. Government experts estimated that there are about 4,000,000 gallons of medicinal spirits now on hand, sufficient for a normal consumption of five years. Liquor, to be fit for medicinal use, according to authorities, must be four years old.

Under the Willis-Campbell act the treasury is directed to keep the stock of medicinal liquor sufficient to meet the nation's need. The present plan, it is understood, is to license six big distilleries.

While 22 states have forbidden the use of medicinal liquor, treasury records indicate that a majority of physicians in the country prescribe it. There are 110,000 doctors' prescriptions permits outstanding. The 1920 census showed there were then 144,977 physicians in the country.

Commissioner Doran is making elaborate preparations to safeguard the new medicinal supply from diversion to bootleg channels. A system of supervision of the six distilleries is being worked out, along with a method of carefully checking the output from the time it leaves the distillery, through the four year period it will remain for aging in bonded warehouses, to the time it finally reaches the public through physicians' prescriptions.

On January 1, by which time it is expected actual manufacture of whiskey would be under way, there will be 8,440,555 gallons of liquor in bonded warehouses. That constitutes a five year supply, at the present rate of withdrawal. This the government planned to maintain a margin of one year's supply ahead of the requirements.

Kellogg-Briand pact in effect. Soon after his arrival he conferred with Secretary Stimson concerning the Sino-Russian crisis.

Although the pact becomes effective only after Japan deposits her ratification and it is proclaimed, Kellogg believes it is morally in force now, and that both Russia and China, as adherents, must observe the pledge they took to settle differences by amicable means.

Japan Unheard from. The United States had not heard from Japan concerning the four power moral drive on China and Russia proposed by Stimson to the French, British and Japanese ambassadors. France has already acted with regard to Russia on behalf of the United States and herself. Great Britain, through Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, notified Stimson yesterday that the British government was only too happy to act in concert with the American government. Chinese Minister C. C. Wu, through whom Secretary Stimson took up directly with the Chinese Nationalist government the applicability of the Kellogg-Briand pact, was expecting to receive a reply from Nanking today.

The Soviet reply to the Stimson proposal will come through the French ambassador, and is expected momentarily. France acted promptly. Within 24 hours after Ambassador Claude notified his government that Stimson had seized upon the Pacific four power treaty of Washington in 1921, as a means of concerted action, the Soviet and Chinese representatives at Paris had been summoned to the Quai d'Orsay.

CHINA DECLARES HOPES FOR PEACE NOT ABANDONED

declared that Russia had adopted warlike preparations, thereby disregarding the letter of the Kellogg pact for renunciation of war.

The manifesto alleged that sole blame for the disturbance of world peace must rest with the Soviets, and called upon the nations of the world to examine evidences of Russia's alleged propaganda in China, which it characterized as "subversive to Chinese national interests."

Propaganda Hurts. "This subversive propaganda," the manifesto read, "embodied utilization of the Soviet consulate at Harbin and railway offices as headquarters for conspiracies aimed at shattering the national unification and organization of China."

The statement added that deceptive means in the recent raid upon the Russian consulate at Harbin would be broadcast to the world to "prove conclusively" that China had been forced into its seizure of the railway by Soviet activity in dissemination of communistic propaganda.

It concluded with a solemn declaration that the aims of China were peaceful, but that she would fight if attacked by the Soviet forces. According to late dispatches from Harbin, Chinese forces aggregating 200,000 men are concentrated in defensive positions along the Manchurian, Sinkiang and Siberian frontiers.

By HARRY R. FLORY International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 22.—Hopes of a bloodless settlement of the dispute between Soviet Russia and China received a severe setback today with reports that the Russians have already opened an offensive on the Manchurian border.

An official dispatch from Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, Manchurian war lord to the Chinese government at Nanking confirmed Shanghai dispatches carried by International News Service Saturday reporting an attack by Soviet troops in the vicinity of Suifu, a town on the Manchurian border also known by the Russian name of Pogranichnaya.

According to Marshal Chang, the Chinese troops took the offensive and the Soviet troops were equipped with all modern instruments of war, including poison gas. He gave no details of any casualties.

It has also been established that Soviet airplanes have been active over Pogranichnaya, throwing the population into a panic. Due to almost complete cessation of cable and telegraph facilities, news from the affected area was extremely scarce today, and no further news dispatches came through to elaborate on Marshal Chang's report to the Nanking government. Word of the reported attack caused consternation in diplomatic circles here, as it apparently was being made just at the time both China and Russia were giving guarantees that neither would use hostile forces against the other because of the pledges undertaken when they signed the Kellogg pact for renunciation of war.

The British government was co-operating to the fullest extent of its ability today with the United States in an effort to bring about peace in the Far East.

COUNCIL BEGINS MOVE AGAINST STREET CAR CO.

ordered. The payment does not include the cost of the work which was done on the portion of the street which is in dispute.

Tells Company Attitude

Coulthard, as agent for C. S. McCalla who took the definite step in absence of R. N. Graham, manager of railways conveyed the information of the company's refusal to pay in brief words. He said McCalla is willing to discuss the proposition with council, if the city officials demanded his presence but that McCalla had announced the information that the company will not pay for the repaving where one track of the double line has been removed.

"There is no use of McCalla discussing it then," said Burns.

It was explained that the company took the attitude that the street was "worn out."

This brought a statement from Tyler that "your track had a tendency to help destroy it."

Councilman Davies developed that the city had not requested the abandonment.

"The company did not make an application to remove the track," Councilman Reeves declared.

It was developed that the company removed the rails and that Woods & Golder took out the ties.

Tyler said that the contractor had removed the dirt from the track abandoned at the cost of the city.

Council then determined that repaving should not stop.

Council was told that in the first payment the money to be paid is not for the abandoned section now improved.

It is probable that council, judging from Tyler's motion that "wear down" on the company, and that the matter may be carried to court.

Recalled for War Duty

The Soviet Government is reported to have recalled General Budenny, Red Army commander, from his vacation to take charge of troop movements on the Manchurian border.

Russia is reported concentrating powerful plane squadrons and thousands of troops along the Amur River since the breaking of diplomatic relations with China because of the taking over of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria by the Nationalist Government.

PROBE SLAYING NEAR SEWICKLEY

with either faction of the Sewickley Heights township feudists.

Dr. C. W. Boyd, Sewickley veterinarian, was driving to a farm house yesterday, saw a dark figure beside the road. He stopped his car to investigate. He found the crumpled form of an Italian smeared with blood and apparently dumped from a machine at the roadside. The man had been shot behind the left ear, in the neck and in the left rear side of the head. Three bullets had pierced the hat of the victim and another shot had grazed his arm.

Chilled at sight of the bullet shattered body Dr. Boyd called county detectives. Goldberg and Detective William S. Baldi answered the call and began their investigation.

No glass was found in the road near the lonely spot where the body was found, indicating that the man had not been shot there, Goldberg said, since pieces of the windshield undoubtedly would have been scattered by the bullets.

Slain Elsewhere.

Constable-Patrolman Clarence Proffier of Sewickley said he had passed the spot where the body was found five hours before Dr. Boyd came by and the body was not there then. The man had been dead only a short time before Dr. Boyd found him, morgue officials believed. This would have meant early Sunday morning as the time of the grim and bloody gangland ride.

Letters from Italy addressed from Detroit and West Virginia and a bank book issued by an Italian Savings company in Cleveland were among the scant clues on which police were working. Several Italians of Pittsburgh and Sewickley were to be taken to the morgue today in an effort to clinch the identification of the dead man.

Police desired to take immediate action if the killing indicated a renewal of the inter-gang feud.

Fashion in jewelry, like clothes, should vary according to the weather. The lonely spot where the man had been shot there, Goldberg said, since pieces of the windshield un-

STAR LORE

POLAR FLATTENING OF THE EARTH AND JUPITER

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The principle of oblateness (polar flattening) of a sphere is an interesting one. Oblateness, as Star Lore has indicated, is produced by the rapid whirl of a spheroid, mass around its central axis. The earth's equatorial diameter exceeds its polar diameter 26.70 miles. Jupiter, the giant of all the planets, has the swiftest axial rotation of any, hence is the most oblate in form. Its equatorial diameter is 82,880 miles—a difference of 5,760 miles. Jupiter makes one axial rotation in 9 hours 55 minutes, as compared with the earth's in 23 hours 56 minutes 41 seconds.

City Plans To Pave Laurel Boulevard
Sarcastic Letter To City Fathers Is Quickly Answered

Laurel boulevard taxpayers today waxed sarcastic in a communication to city council and as a result council passed a motion ordering that Laurel boulevard between Highland Avenue and Neshannock boulevard be paved.

The taxpayers communication termed the park a farm. The letter requested that the plot be plowed and grass seed sown.

Councilman Tyler said the weeds had been cut, then said: "The letter speaks of civic pride. While one of the city men were cutting the weeds a property-owner was fixing his lawn and threw the sod on the park. That's civic pride for you."

It was decided to pave and the motion was presented by Reeves and passed.

In the meanwhile the weeds will be cut.

Y. CAMP NOTES
First section of the boys camp of the Y. M. C. A. located near Harlansburg on the Slippery Rock creek will close on Tuesday morning. The second group of boys will leave the Y. building at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

About 25 of the first group will remain for the second two weeks and the same number are expected to leave the Y. for the second term. All boys expecting to leave for the second term are urged to bring their luggage to the Y. Monday night and to be on hand at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning to leave for the camp.

On Sunday afternoon Dr. Weir Ketter, president of Grove City college, gave a very interesting talk on the life of George Washington. The interesting talk was appreciated very much by the boys. About 30 parents and friends of the boys were present.

Saturday night was stunt night at the camp and boys who passed the Co. at the Sclera Street Neighborhood camp were honored. Jack F. Hood House will be held Tuesday morning between the hours of 10 and 12 a. m.

Dr. S. Skole will be in charge, assisted by Miss Ferguson of the Shenango Plant and the state and county nurses.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

OF EVERY $100 of public revenue paid in to the United States treasury the legislative department spends 40 cents, the executive department spends 10 cents, the independent federal offices spend $13.40, the agricultural department spends $4.20, the department of commerce spends 70 cents, the department of interior spends $9, the department of justice spends 60 cents, the department of labor spends 20 cents, the navy department spends $9.50, the war department spends $10.10, the treasury department spends $8.10, the District of Columbia spends 70 cents, subscriptions to capital stock of Federal Intermediate Credit banks take 30 cents, the interest on the public debt consumes $28.20, the premium on the public debt consumes 10 cents more and the retirement of the public debt eats up the remaining $13.50 of the $100.

There is little of significance in these individual items of the national budget unless they are placed in comparison. A comparison of the component items is far from encouraging for it discloses that 60 per cent of the national revenue is spent for military preparation and in paying off the war debt. War is an expensive game even in peace time.

It is lamentable that the nation must spend $9.20 to maintain a navy for every $4.20 spent for the protection and maintenance of the national food supply and that $10.10 is spent on a peace time army for every 10 cents spent for the administration of the affairs of the nation. There are good and valid reasons why the American people look forward to the abolishment of military forces throughout the world, even though it be the millennium.

BACK SEAT DRIVERS

THE National Crime Commission makes the rather astonishing statement that the country's annual payment of lawlessness is larger than the value of its farm products and even greater than the total European war debt to the United States. It is an appalling condition, causing one to stop and wonder what is to be done about it, if anything.

One of the reasons for this annoying situation is that the criminal class has gained control over many of the larger cities, and that the average lawabiding citizen twiddles his thumbs and wonders why somebody doesn't do something about it. In the meantime the criminal is taking every advantage of the listless or too easily influenced authorities.

Back seat driving has called for many remarks from the wisemen and the zealous wives of meek husbands have been the butt of most of these jokes. However, there are many back seat drivers out of the automobile.

A back seat driver criticizes legislation and the administration of government, but refuses to run for an office and fails to make his vote count for good government, if he votes. He knows how to run the town but expects others to assume the responsibility. He is untiring in his demands for better government and civic improvement, but never tires himself working for such betterment. The world is all wrong but, besides complaining, he would not lift a finger to right it.

This lifeless breed of citizen is content to coast along in the back seat, voice his criticisms and never make an attempt to pitch in and help. It is easy to prescribe but hard to cure, and those who are doing something tangible toward bettering things deserve no real disparagement.

NEVER TOO OLD TO LEARN

IN RECENT years North Carolina has been making marked progress in the education of its children. Money and effort are giving every child educational opportunities and benefits.

But there are still places in the mountains where the number of adults who can neither read nor write is appalling. This condition is of long standing and has arrested the development of those regions. In their illiteracy those people have been slaves of a superstitious fear of change and progress.

The federal bureau of education began to break in on this vicious circle of ignorance nearly a decade ago. House-to-house visiting in the communities where adult schools were established persuaded some of the men and women to try to learn. Now thousands, who to years ago could not spell their own names, are reading and writing. It was not the teaching that was difficult, but inculcation of the desire to learn. After living the greater part of their lives in ignorance, they thought it hopeless to try to learn the mysteries of "learnin'."

There are many literate people in other sections of the country who can profit by what happened to those mountaineers once they set to work at the elementary education. As tremendous changes sweep through many fields of life, it is not at all unusual to find people who feel that it is too late to "learn new tricks," to adopt new methods. Discouraged before they have tried, they continue in the old rut. Others resolutely strive to bring themselves abreast of the times and their efforts are usually rewarded with a measure of success.

One is never too old to learn, if the inspiration is there.

No League, Thanks Be.
Remember the Kellogg Pact?
Russia's Jewish State.
The Prince Likes Beer.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE

With the war apparently starting between China and Russia, this country may congratulate itself on being out of the League of Nations. The league will not be able to tell us what part we must play in war, what men and money we must supply. The league may even hesitate about establishing a blockade against American goods. If we were in the league we should be expected to acquiesce in that arrangement as a matter of course.

This nation has no diplomatic relations with Russia. Russians and Chinese have been our friends in the past. Russia has proved her friendship practically.

But because foolish boy bankers in Wall Street bought bonds from the czar and Kerensky, when a baby might have known better, and because new Russia won't pay, our government refuses to recognize the Russian government. We ought to be offering our services as peacekeepers. Having no diplomatic relations with Russia we must keep out.

A war between China and Russia would be bitter.

China announces her intention of stopping Russian propaganda in China, and wiping out Russian Communist theories. That, not the railway seizure, caused the Russian outbreak.

If Russia conquers China, which is entirely probable, and Communism is forced upon China, there is no knowing what chaos may be produced in that country, not suited to Bolshevik experience.

Remember the Kellogg pact, beautiful document, that was to prevent war? Russia and China both signed that Kellogg pact. Now watch how beautifully it does not work.

To prevent wars between nations, Britain and the United States, with the cooperation of other nations if possible, should make themselves so powerful in the air and under water that nations preparing to fight would obey orders when told not to fight.

A policeman can stop fights between boys or men, because they know that the policeman has a club and a revolver.

He couldn't stop the fight by pulling out any peace pipe, or peace pipe, or by reciting, "Let dogs delight to bark and bite."

Russia plans a great independent Jewish state in Siberia, on the banks of the Amur river, to be known as the "Jewish Soviet Socialist Republic." The state will use its own language, laws and customs, with substantial help from Moscow.

That proposed state is, on fertile, beautiful land in Siberia, not the Siberia of moving pictures and novels. It is bigger than Texas, about as big as Texas, with great agricultural and mining possibilities.

That "made to order nation" might prove more powerful and prosperous than the attempt now making in Palestine.

The Prince of Wales drank a glass of beer to the health of 200 workmen who wished him good luck when he opened the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine in Goat Street. The prince, who wished them "good luck" in return, is genuinely democratic, and may inherit a taste for beer.

An earlier Prince of Wales, in Shakespeare's "Henry IV," asks: "Doth it now show villainy in me to desire small beer?"

It was Rockefeller money, by the way, $2,000,000 of it, that made possible that fine health building in London.

British "Shell" Oil company, powerful enough to compete even with the Rockefeller, begins a selling campaign in New York right under the nose of Standard Oil. It starts with a heavy advertising campaign, which will not break the hearts of newspaper publishers.

Britain's plan, if they can get American money in no other way, to come here and get, seems intelligent.

The convention of governors declined Mr. Wickersham's invitation to concentrate on prohibition and divide enforcement with the federal government.

The governors feel that if the United States and its president can attend to prohibition, to the exclusion of almost all other public business, the governors of the states should occupy themselves with other important matters.

The prohibition question, barring drastic legislation, will remain for years and probably generations a permanent sore spot.

Bootlegging, distilling, speakeasies will continue financing organized crime and official bribery to the tune of hundreds of millions a year. All the talking, all the commissions won't end that. The country may as well become reconciled to it, while modern (Continued On Page Five)

Censorship Of The Classics
Appraised As Literary Gain

Revocation Of Custom House Action Barring Voltaire's
"Candide" From The United States Subject
Of Sarcastic Comment

Lifting of the customs ban on Voltaire's "Candide" is greeted by sarcastic comment on the idea of permitting customs inspectors to serve as literary critics, and suggestions that perhaps the incident has tended to revive interest in the classics.

Taking note of the fact that "the customs authorities at Washington, after solemn deliberation, have overruled their scrupulous Boston agents," the LOUISVILLE TIMES observes: "A country at the gates of which the immortal 'Candide'—perhaps the finest short story in all literature, according to Dr. Durant's widely accepted 'Story of Philosophy'—is placed under grave suspicion as 'obscene,' but in which the plaintiff in a juicy breach-of-promise suit is assured of a fortune from the Boston might have interested Voltaire himself."

"At any rate," thinks the PORT WATNE NEWS-SENTINEL, "the customs officials wisely decided that importation of a dozen copies of a particular edition of this 170-year-old story would not be utterly ruinous to the land of the free and the home of the brave. We are grateful for the common sense of the customs officials, and we are also grateful to the censor for having sent a good many Americans to their libraries to make discovery or rediscovery of a great writer's great book. Let us hope that he will, in the future, attract attention to other unfortunately neglected classics."

"We should like to hear Voltaire's expression of gratitude," remarks the CINCINNATI ENQUIRER. "For this officious publicity by public officials. The philosopher of Ferney would have smiled quizzically. He suffered much from officious officials in his own day. And Candide doubtless would bear this new suffering with cynical indifference, as was his wont in the famous novel. 'The Times-Sun' believes that the present stupor of the seizure is a really dangerous sign of the times. Old books that may contain passages which offend the people of another century would ordinarily be read only by those whose quest is not for the obscene but for an appreciation of the customs and viewpoints of our ancestors."

"To permit customs agents, even when supplied with translators, to pass upon the material that may be studied by the best minds of the country is to put an intolerable halter on scholarship," avers the HARTFORD COURANT, with the suggestion that "the situation may be improved by amending the law, but it would be even more helped by the appointment of officials possessed of sufficient common sense and good judgment so that the enforcement will not become a travesty on intelligence."

"The list of distinguished books, ancient and modern, that have been declared too improper to be admitted to the United States is long," declares the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS. "One must suspect that the common run of customs officers go when they are asked to censor books when they see it. Good-natured as the American public is, it does not like the idea of being made utterly ridiculous."

"The release of 'Candide' from the commendation by the BALTIMORE SUN, which adds: 'The exercise of common sense and reasonable judgment in questions of censorship is rare enough to be appreciated and even when it appears as an isolated and accidental phenomenon. One may hope that there is a definite, practical aspect to this decision, and that the Treasury Department has at last realized that the inspectors at various local offices are running literary censorship into the ground and reflecting upon the taste, education, humor and intelligence of an entire people.'"

"This genre of satiric literature," remarks the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "is for the time being officially as innocent of obscenity as the 38th chapter of Genesis. But, although 'Candide' manages to scratch out a clean bill of health, the evil of the federal censorship is in no way abated. The power is still wasted in men incapable of forming correct judgments in the matter, to exclude from the country or from the mails literary works of the highest merit."

THE BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE advises: "The United States has exonerated 'Candide.' Massachusetts has done nothing of the sort. The sooner the 13 de Luxe copies of the 1750 work are taken out of the jurisdiction of Massachusetts, the better for the importer. To be sure, Candide did not kiss the baroness only an unmarried girl; but any kissing is particularly calculated to arouse the suspicion of the Bay State censorship authorities."

Pointing out that this classic has "been used for decades in American colleges," the CHATTANOOGA NEWS suggests: "Perhaps now we may expect a flood of the classic and the public, which admits the baroness will want to see what the censorship is all about. And libraries, no doubt, will have to get new copies to replace those which, undoubtedly, have been overly thumbed since the Boston arbiters of literature banished Voltaire. Until we can get a few customs inspectors with Chesterfieldian tastes in literature and art, we suppose intelligent Americans will have to continue to read the classics without the advice of censors."

In view of the effect of the revocation of the government decision, the NEW YORK EVENING WORLD expresses the general satisfaction at the result: "Harvard professors will no longer have to 'bootleg' this volume of Voltaire to their classes. The rest of the country can continue to bootleg, borrow or steal the book without the extra thrill of knowing it is under the ban. Washington has proved itself broader than the Modern Athens—and what Washington says goes. So, in the words of the immortal Dr. Pangloss, Candide's tutor, 'all is for the best in this best of all possible worlds.' We can rejoice and go back to our cabbage."

AIMS OF THIRD INTERNATIONAL August 9.

These Russian people whom I saw swarming the sidewalks and overflowing into the whole streets of villages, are a dirty, dirty, lousy lot. They smell about a vital, vulgar, vulgar people, bespeaking a wholesome healthy race. They have clothes, such as they are, not things of beauty, but probably fulfilling the function for which clothes were intended. They are not gay, but then Russians were never renowned for their gaiety. Like the British, they enjoy themselves badly. Men in red, black and brown, women with shaved heads and bare legs, children ragged and dirty but not unhappy, they give the impression of being fine biological specimens. This, say the Bolsheviks, is all that is necessary for human happiness. But is it?

This evening we had a memorable conference with Valerian Omsky. He was formerly Count Omsky. But now he is "Comrade" Omsky. He has been in Russia for with the Communists and he is a Comrade. He is the chief spokesman for the Soviet government. He was the head of their delegation to the Conference in Geneva last year. He has a demure little man, sort-spoken. But he has a keen eye, is intensely alert every moment. He gave the impression that he could take care of himself in any argument. This we soon found out was the case. He was asked frank questions and received just as frank answers. Evidently our fame as inquisitive inquirers has been spreading throughout Moscow, for there was a considerable number of young Russian intellectuals on hand to listen to the discussion. Here are a few of the questions and answers as nearly as I can remember them with the aid of some notes which I took.

Q. What will be the source of your sustained enthusiasm for the Communist cause, when the first flare dies down? You do not have the motives which rule in our bourgeois society; you do not have profit motive, the religious motive or the idealistic motive. What will be the dynamic which will keep your movement going?

A. It will be the love of a thing. We are in a conflict for the domination by the working class over all the conditions of his life. It is a class struggle. The rest of the struggle will keep us going.

Q. But you are expecting to abolish all classes but the working class, and will then have a classless society; what then will be the source of your enthusiasm?

A. I shall have to leave that question for my grand children to answer. (Continued On Page Five)

After all the chilling rain Still the sun will shine again. Though we may not see its face It stands steadfast in its place.

There are joys we soon may find Unto which we now are blind. Glorious things we cannot see Shall the future bring to be.

There are many things in store To be lived and waited for. Many splendors worth the price Of the present sacrifice.

So be patient through the rain For the sun shall shine again. Though we may not see its face It stands steadfast in its place.

Laziness was crossing his track. He had a head that was too big. They buried her in a tomb. With her passions.

Because her enemies had.

Hand-Car And Machine Crash, Man Is Killed

Seven Injured, Including Many Workmen On Pennsy Hand-Car

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 22.—Collision of a Pennsylvania Railroad handcar and an automobile at Holmsburg, near here, today killed J. D. The automobile careened aside and stopped on top of a creek embankment. The handcar was derailed and derailed by the collision. Rodney died in the emergency room of the Uniontown hospital. His neck was broken.

May Force Busses To Parking Ground

May Only Be Allowed To Take On And Discharge Passengers On Square

Council today considered action against the Pennsylvania-Ohio Company as a comeback to the company's refusal to pay for repaving of a truck abandoned in West Washington street. Council attempted to shunt the busses from the P.-O. station in West Washington street to the south side of the diamond.

"This was Reeves' idea. The mayor thought the busses should be parked to the center of the Public Square. Councilman Tyler thought all busses should be forced to get a parking ground and allowed to only discharge and take on passengers on the city diamond.

As the matter had been placed before the Council of Police, Mayor and Superintendent Coulthart, it was deemed best to wait until Friday for Chief of Police Horner to make a recommendation, which he must do by Friday.

Superintendent Coulthart said the busses should be kept as close to the waiting station as possible.

Contractor Defunct, Books Examined By Order From Court

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Immediate examination by Harry Cronin and a firm of accountants of the books of the defunct Thomas Cronin company, contractors, had been ordered in a common pleas court order filed here today. The order was directed against George Vang and George H. Lanz, receivers of the concern.

Cronin charged irregularities had been made by the receivers. The Vang Construction company had been awarded a reconstruction contract on the airport on Lebanon road, only a short time ago.

NIXON THEATRE TO BE REOPENED

Report Negotiations Under Way For Another Theatre Downtown

Workmen are engaged today in the remodeling of the interior of the old Nixon theater on East Washington street, a new theatrical concern of Pittsburgh having taken over the property.

The theater was closed some time ago because of the failure to comply with the state requirements in the lobby. To comply with the law it will be necessary to install a ticket booth under the stairway next to the lobby, and arrangements are under way to do this. A small portion of the space now occupied by the Davis Shoe Company will have to be taken over if this is done, and negotiations are now under way to this end.

A rumor which is known to have considerable foundation in fact has it that the Stanley Theater Corporation is seeking an East Washington street site for a large theater. Nothing tangible has come of this, but negotiations for site are under way.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

Q. Where may we look for examples of civic liberty?

A. Frankly we do not allow that spurious kind of liberty which you refer to. We do not allow men the liberty to destroy what we conceive of as our real liberties. So we do not for the present permit freedom of the press or freedom of speech. Anyone is allowed perfect freedom to discuss any question within the limit of common sense. But the basic principles of communism he must not discuss, or question in public print or speech. But we have real liberty, which is economic liberty. The man is master of his own job. In America "the land of liberty" you do not have this essential liberty. There is no use of having liberty of speech when you are bound economically.

Q. Why do you send money to other countries for the spread of your communist propaganda?

A. We do this as officials of the Soviet government. But we all belong to the Third International. We are only one of some sixty different nations which are represented in it. The Third International happens to have its headquarters in Moscow as the Second International happens to have its headquarters in Brussels, and as the First had its headquarters in London. The fact that the Third International is carrying on communist propaganda in every country does not mean that we as a government are doing it. Your President Coolidge is a member of the Congressional Church which sends missionaries to India. Those missionaries are blamed by the British for stirring up, indirectly, the revolts among the natives. But because President Coolidge supports those missionaries as a Congregationalist, the British government would not accuse him, the head of the United States Government. We have issued strict orders to our official representatives in foreign countries not to have anything to do with communist propaganda.

We are naturally sympathetic to the communist movements in each country. And we co-operate with them but always through the Third International and not as government officials. We believe that each movement must be indigenous and grow up according to the peculiar genius of its own people. We are not at all sure that our Russian brand of communism would be the best form of communism to take in every other country.

Q. Why is the Communist Government granting concessions to capitalist concerns?

A. We have not yet developed the monopolistic psychology. Eventually the communist state must have a monopoly of all industry and commerce. But at present we need the stimulation which the competition of a few capitalist concerns can give us. They furnish a form for us to work to. They provide standards of efficiency, which we need to emulate.

SOLDIERS AND STATE TROOPS RUSHING TO CLINTON PRISON

prisoners were marching out of the mess hall after they had finished their breakfast.

In five minutes according to word received by state prison officials at Albany, the prisoners were rioting in the prison yard, fighting among themselves and with the guards.

For a few minutes, there was every indication of a general prison delivery.

Calls For Aid Warden Harry Kaiser, realizing the situation was serious, telephoned to the Pittsburgh Barracks for a detachment of Soldiers. He also phoned the state prison department which in turn asked the state police headquarters to rush 100 troopers at once to the prison.

Several hundred Federal soldiers were sent to the prison by automobile. The Pittsburgh Barracks are about 200 miles from the prison.

Forty state troopers from all parts of northern New York reached the prison a short time after the call for help came from Warden Kaiser.

With orders to shoot to kill, the guards are lined up on the prison wall and are holding the rioting convicts in the prison yard.

"Things will be quieted down as soon as the soldiers and all the state police get there," said Charles Jones, Deputy State Prison Commissioner.

1,350 Convicts In Jail There are 1,350 convicts, many of them serving life sentences, in the prison. Warden Kaiser reported to state officials here, however, that only about 1,000 of the convicts were participating in the riot. There are 130 guards at the prison. Only for the fact that the guards were heavily armed and that they did not hesitate to shoot when the convicts started climbing the wall, it was said, that all of the prisoners might have escaped.

Warden Kaiser told prison officials he had no idea what started the riot. Kaiser said the prisoners were peacefully marching out of the mess hall when suddenly two or three voices were heard to yell:

"Now is the time to make a break for freedom."

Within a minute, it was said, the riot was on in full swing.

The prisoners brushing their guards to one side and literally tramping over each other, rushed to the prison yard, yelling and screaming.

"Men the walls and shoot to kill," Warden Kaiser ordered the guards as the convicts milled about the prison yard.

A second later two shots rang out and two convicts, who had been trying to scale the walls, fell, apparently mortally wounded. Other convicts dragged their wounded comrades to the prison door where they were picked up by guards and taken to the hospital.

Clinton is one of the state's oldest penal institutions. Prison officials said this was the first time that a serious riot ever had occurred in that institution.

Largest Family To Get Valuable Prize

Knights Of Columbus Annual Picnic To Be Big Affair

Thousands of people of this city are looking forward to the annual outing of the Knights of Columbus to be held at Cascade Park Wednesday under the auspices of St. Mary's Council, No. 512.

It is to be a basket affair and all are expected to bring well filled baskets and enjoy themselves at meal time in the grove.

One of the features of the day will be the competition between the largest families for the expensive chair that is to be given away on that date. The family having the largest representation present will get the chair.

The annual baby show also promises to excel all expectations. The entry list has been growing by leaps and bounds in the past few days and indications are that a record number of babies will be on exhibition that day in the contest that is to be held.

Council Passes Three Ordinances

Three ordinances today were passed finally when council met at the City building.

They follow: Grading of Delaware avenue between Edgewood avenue and city line at expense of property owners. Appropriating $5,000 from general revenue for the payment of painting the city share of the Gardner avenue viaduct.

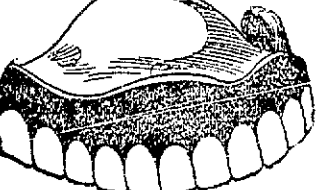

Requiring property owners in North Mercer between Edison and Leasure avenues and also in North Mercer between Garfield and Euclid avenues to construct sidewalks.

business, like a man who knows that he has an inoperable cancer, does the best it can under the circumstances.

Britain intends to discontinue regulating automobile speed except for trucks, which will be limited to 20 miles an hour. The new law will say "go as fast as you like" and punish you severely for reckless driving and any mistake harmful to others.

France permits you to go as fast as you please, except in towns and villages. But if you hurt anybody, you go to jail.

The Cannery League of California, Preston McKinney, vice president, has arranged with peach growers to pay $80 a ton for peaches, and has contracted for all good fruit in the northern or central part of California.

"The reference in this column was to growers and cannery in southern California who have not yet agreed on a price for the crop.

Southern California growers this year will produce only a little more than ten per cent of the total state peach crop, which, according to Mr. McKinney, makes the problem less serious.

Can't Claim Any Dog If It Is Not Licensed

"If your dog is not licensed you do not own it," said Attorney W. W. Stevenson, director of the Shenandoah Valley Humane Society, today. Mr. Stevenson, in speaking of this matter, said the following:

"If your dog is not licensed you do not own it. That is the law as interpreted by Judge Bonwell in the Philadelphia case and confirmed by legal authorities in some other states. This verdict should cause dog owners to study carefully their rights and liabilities under the law."

"A pet dog straying along the sidewalk near its home was picked up by a man who placed the dog in his automobile and drove away. The man was traced and the dog was eventually located on the operating table of a vivisection laboratory. The animal was returned to owner and after veterinary treatment recovered."

"The man who picked the dog up was arrested on a larceny charge and held for the grand jury. The charge was quashed, the judge declaring there is no property value in an unlicensed dog."

"Dog owners from this case should learn that in some states at least they have no property rights in dogs if they fail to take out a license. Even if the dog is worth a thousand dollars and is not licensed they have no redress against the person who picks up the dog, takes it home and licenses it in his own name. Without the license there is no legal ownership. Dog owners should see that in addition to licensing being necessary in the public interest the license is the best, in fact the only protection for the dog and the dog owner."

Better English Is Spoken In America

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—In the opinion of Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, widely known lexicographer and editor of the Funk & Wagnall's new standard dictionary, the American people speak better English than the English themselves.

Doctor Vizetelly said that the broad 'a' is a long feature of the English of the Englishman's speech is fast disappearing. He expressed his opinion while on a visit here recently. "This shifting of vowel values, may be attributed to their greater facilities of contact. To my amazement, the broad 'a' approximated in 'bawth'."

glavss' and 'graw's' of my old school town in East Sussex, has been superseded by the more melodious 'a' as in 'bach', 'glass' and 'grass'. 'Water' however, is still 'wahter' and not 'woter'.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Missionary Society of the Princeton church met at the home of Mrs. Sara Lutton for an all day quilting last Thursday. Mrs. W. W. Duff, who is home on furlough from the mission field of India, was present and gave a very interesting talk. Questions were asked and the society had a chance to get information concerning the work first-hand. Mrs. Esther was leader of the devotionals in the afternoon.

During the business period Mrs. Dulcie Blair was elected to serve as secretary for the remainder of the year in place of Mrs. Gregory, resigned. As Mrs. Maude Gregory is leaving soon for her new home, Miss Mary Watson presented her with a brooch, in behalf of the missionary society. Mrs. Gregory responded very fittingly.

The next meeting of the society will be held August 15 at the home of Miss Mary Ramsey of Rose Point.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS

Mrs. W. W. Duff spoke on her work in India, in the Princeton Church, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Although the number of listeners was small, they were indeed very much interested. An offering was taken which will go to help purchase a Ford for the Duffs to make them more efficient when they return to the field.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

THE KIND-HEARTED QUEEN

So sweet of nature was the Queen of the Bees that even if something should provoke her gentle wrath it was all over in a moment. She smiled a bee smile upon Peter. She asked who he was, and why he was there.

"Now that I know what 'summer-saults' are, go on with your story. What did you do next?"

"I tried to get out," said Peter, so quickly that the bees buzzed with amusement, "but I scratched my nose and hands when I tried to climb back again and my leg hurt so that I had to stop. And after a while I found that I was in a long passage, so I walked, and walked, and walked, thinking that if I kept on long enough I must come out somewhere."

"A very wise idea," said the Queen, and all the bees nodded their approval.

"All I could find at first were lots of tiny doors that wouldn't open, although I pushed them as hard as ever I could. Then I came to some that stood half way open and I peeped inside, but there was nobody in them, only in one or two I saw a pile of something that looked like putty in the corner. So I went on and on until at last I turned a corner and came out here."

"Was that a prison I walked through. Your Highness? Are bees such naughty people? There were so many doors!"

"Mercy, no," said the Queen. "Those

SHE ASKED WHO HE WAS AND WHY HE WAS THERE

were cells, it is true, but not for bees, for honey. Honey was what you saw in the corner. My busy subjects fill all those little rooms with it, and that is how we get our food for the winter. They make just exactly enough food to feed the tribe, and if any is missing some of us will have to starve. That is why my subjects were so anxious when they thought you had stolen it.

"There are a lot of us, you see, and soon the babies will arrive. I laid more than a hundred eggs this morning, and I must say that I think that is a pretty good day's work. We love babies here in Beesville, and we will not let anything happen to hurt them if we can help it."

"But of course if you fell through our roof, boy, you are not to blame for being in our storehouse and you really do seem a decent sort of fellow, so if you would like to make a little visit to Beesville my subjects will do their best to make you happy."

For some time a funny fat bee with only one wing had been trying her best to attract the attention of the Queen, and as soon as Her Highness finished speaking she waddled over to where Peter was standing.

Bible Conference Comes To Close

Thousand Persons At Concluding Session At Etna Springs Sunday

The Etna Springs Bible conference came to a climatic close last night when approximately a thousand people packed the large dance pavilion and listened to a stirring message by Dr. Walter E. McClure, who spoke on "Our Lord's Return." For over an hour the audience listened with rapt attention as the speaker unfolded the Scriptures concerning the fact of Christ's return, and the glorious results of His return. "It is useless to set dates for the second return of Christ," said the speaker. "For the scripture emphatically declared that no man knows the day or the hour when the Son of Man cometh."

"All thru the Scriptures the eminence of Christ's return is emphasized and we are urged to be ready and waiting at all times," continued the speaker.

Rev. Burr Montgomery who will have charge of the music at the Grove City Bible conference was in attendance and led the great audience in a spirited song service. The Prospect Band contributed some highly appreciated sacred selections at both afternoon and evening sessions.

At the afternoon session between four and five hundred listened to G. M. Landis, president of the Etna Springs Bible conference, who spoke on "The Profit in Prophecy." The speaker showed from the Scriptures the blessings, value and importance of studying the prophetic Scriptures. The song service was ably led by Pastor Floyd A. Childs, who has had charge of the music throughout the conference. A duet was sung by Mrs. Childs and Miss Mackey.

Saturday afternoon and evening large audiences heard Pastor Evangelist Thomas Carter, Jr., give a graphic account of his remarkable conversion.

Officers for the Conference Association were elected in view of the fact of the great success of the conference this year and in the strong demand for an annual continuance of it. The following were elected: Rev. Ibert Williams of Ellwood City, president; G. M. Landis of New Castle, vice president; H. H. Van Cleave of North Liberty, secretary-treasurer. In addition a board of directors was formed of pastors who were instrumental in launching the conference. Special honor was given to Rev. Ward Lusk of Isle, Pa., who conceived the idea for the conference and whose indefatigable efforts and largely to his success. Word of commendation was expressed for the courtesies extended to the conference by the New Castle News, for its full and accurate report of the various sessions.

Air Crash Blamed On Student Flyer

Burning To Death Of Three Youngstown Men Laid To Inexperience Of Young Pilot

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 22.—From the charred wreckage of a Hispano-Suiza motorized biplane, Toledo aviation experts today pieced the story of how a student flyer's inexperience sent three men to their death five miles south of Perrysburg Saturday afternoon.

The victims who were burned to death in the plane, which burst into flames upon hitting the ground, were identified as three Youngstown, Ohio, men, flying to Michigan. They were James Detch, 59; his son, Carl B. Detch, 25, pilot of the plane, and Charles Jones, a flying instructor.

The younger Detch, whose flying record shows less than ten hours in the air, lost control of the ship in a tail spin, caused when he banked into the wind while less than 100 feet from the ground, authorities said tonight.

The plane was so near the ground when it went out of control that workers in nearby fields heard Jones, an experienced flyer, whose body was found in the front seat of the plane, yell:

"Let go of that stick, kid."

It is believed that Jones spent the few seconds before all three were killed frantically trying to right the ship as it swooped to earth. His charred body was found jammed in the front controls.

Bodies of all three men were taken back to Youngstown tonight by relatives. They were positively identified by the Deck Mortuary at Bowling Green, Ohio.

W. M. Robertson, aeronautical inspector for the Department of Commerce, Washington, in the Cleveland district, was in Toledo today, investigating the crash.

Fliers Have Close Call From Death

Student Flier Freezes To Controls Of Plane Doing Loop

(International News Service)
MOONSVILLE, W. Va., July 22.—J. W. Hunt, flying instructor at Langlin Field, and student flyer, Homer F. Ridenour, of Martins Ferry, O., had a close brush with death when the student froze to the controls of a triplane and hunt involuntarily executed an outside loop, it was learned today.

Hunt's efforts to shake loose the student's grip on the controls started the plane on an outside loop, and the entire maneuver was completed before he could command of the plane. The youth did not relinquish his hold on the stick until the plane had gone into a spin down through the clouds, with Hunt fighting desperately for the "stick."

As the machine hurtled toward the ground, it was learned, the instructor succeeded in righting the controls and making a safe landing. So far side loop is the second time in history of aviation in which it has been successfully accomplished. An army flyer at Dayton, O., achieved fame a year ago by executing an outside loop and landing to tell of it.

Capacity Crowd At Harbor Tent

Revival Services Take On Added Interest Over The Week End

Again a capacity audience attended the Harbor revival services on the Youngstown road, intersection of the Harbor road. Several hundred people from a radius of many miles gathered at the tent Sunday evening.

Several hymns sung by the congregation and led by Rev. W. H. Armstrong, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church, marked the opening of the meeting.

Following a prayer by Elmer Purey, Rev. Armstrong asked if any persons wish to testify. Fifty persons gave testimonies.

A special duet number was given by Mr. and Mrs. William Lyson, accompanied by Mrs. Daugherty, and a solo was given by Mr. MacKenzie, accompanied by Margaret Owey.

Rev. Wade Patrick delivered an interesting sermon, using as his text Psalms 9:17. "The wind shall be turned into a howl, and all the nations that forget God."

The services at the Harbor are inter-denominational and are held each evening at 8 o'clock. August 4 is the closing date.

POSTAL CLERKS OF STATE OPEN SESSIONS HERE

E. Stevens, secretary of New Castle local No. 227, presiding.

Brief addresses were made by Harwood C. Weinstock vice president of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, and Thomas Flaherty, secretary and treasurer of the national federation. The convention was then informally opened by State President Leimbach.

During the evening the delegates and their friends were entertained through the Cathedral and the plant of the Bell Telephone Company.

The convention was a little late in getting started this morning, but rapid progress was made, and when the hour for the morning recess had arrived the business of the morning had been concluded.

Welcome Delegates
The morning session opened with Clyde E. Stevens, secretary of New Castle local No. 227, presiding.

The invocation was pronounced by Dr. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland U. P. church.

Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford welcomed the delegates and members to the city in behalf of local No. 227. The welcome to the city was delivered by Mayor W. H. Gillespie, who expressed the hope that their stay in the city would be a most pleasant one, and extended the invitation of the citizens of New Castle to make themselves at home during their brief stay here.

James W. Cole, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, then gave a short address, in which he outlined the principal industries of the city. He gave the delegates statistics on the city's population and its principal industries, concluding by extending the facilities of the Chamber of Commerce for the use of the convention during its sessions here.

The convention was then turned over to State President Leimbach, who proceeded to seat the delegates and open the business sessions following the report of Chairman William Hagie of the credentials committee.

Committees Named
Committees which were named at the opening session Sunday afternoon are:

Credentials—William Hagie, Erie, chairman; Luther P. Cummings, Lancaster; John Robinson, New Castle; Miss Mary Fowler, Bethlehem; and Walter B. Brown, Sharon.

Officers' reports—George Anderson, Franklin, chairman; Charles Byler, New Wilmington; Martin Thomson, Sharon; Arthur Burkert, Reading; William F. Heck, Bethlehem.

Finance—E. H. M. Koons, Philadelphia, chairman; H. DeBont, Reading, and Joseph H. Goldman, Pittsburgh.

Rules—Charles J. Rupp, Allentown, chairman; Joseph B. Sherr, Lancaster; R. W. Hennerling, Ellwood City; James Daley, Philadelphia; and Theodore Hogan, Erie.

Resolutions—Frank E. Franz, Bethlehem, chairman; Miss Margaret E. Gillen, McKees Rocks; Donald C. Mullen, Erie; William J. Donohue, Philadelphia; and Ansel F. Crane, Pittsburgh.

Constitution and by-laws—Henry Schaefer, Pittsburgh; John Lippincott, Reading; Guy C. Aude, New Castle; William B. McVey, New Castle; and John E. McDonald, Scranton.

The convention recessed promptly at 10:15 in order to permit the delegates to visit the plant of the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company.

The convention reassembled at 12 o'clock for the afternoon session, when the principal business of the convention is to be completed and officers elected.

This will be followed by the taking of a group picture of the convention and a scenic auto tour to points of interest in and about the city, including a visit to the state game propagation farm near Harlansburg.

Program Tonight
The convention will end with the banquet this evening in the Castle ballroom, the program for which follows:

Invocation—Rev. C. J. Williamson. Address of welcome—Hon. W. H. Gillespie, mayor.

Address—Hon. J. Howard Swick, congressman.

Musical—Innovation—W. C. H. Matthews.

Address—Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer, N. P. O. C.

Musical—Castle Singers.

Closing remarks—James W. Cole, secretary Chamber of Commerce.

North Beaver Man Found Dead In Bed

Scott Warner, 57, Believed Victim Of Heart Attack On Sunday

Scott Warner, aged 57 years was found dead in bed at the home of Clarence P. Hedrick in North Beaver township Sunday morning about ten o'clock by members of the family. It is believed that his death was the result of a heart attack. He had been dead for some time when found.

The deceased had recently gone to the Hedrick home in search of employment. He had been working among the farmers of that community during the harvest season. He is not known to have any relatives with the exception of a brother, Frank, Coroner J. E. Caldwell was called and investigated the case. Funeral announcement will be made later.

Child Is Killed
By B. & O. Train

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 22.—Dorothy Jane Coffey, 19 months

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Coffey who reside west of this city, was instantly killed and her body mangled when she tumbled on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in front of a westbound freight train. The child had strayed from the yard of her home the railroad running right by the residence. The trainmen had no chance to bring their heavily loaded train to a stop they contend.

Dear Brother Lion:—Lion Jack Dunfee is noted for several reasons, especially as a connoisseur of stamps. He will address us tomorrow on "The Antiquities of Stamp Collecting." This lecture will be illustrated.

Let us keep our attendance record going during these vacation months. Very truly yours, Thomas I. Elliott, Secretary.

You see, Helma, you simply must take all the blame for the war or there wouldn't be any reason to make you pay for it.

Seven Victims Of Blast Are Buried

Victims Of Recent Blast At Logans Ferry Plant Are Buried On Sunday

(International News Service)
NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., July 22.—Hundreds of persons gathered here yesterday for funeral services for the seven victims of the explosion which wrecked the Logan's Ferry plant of the Aluminum Company of America. At St. Peter's Catholic church grief-stricken workers' friends of Josefa Larios, Bartolo Lopez and G. Gallardo sat silent as the priest read the triple service.

Firemen from East Kensington conducted services for Andrew Kutzman, who had been president of their department. The three others were buried in separate services.

Three employees, burned by the explosion, still were in Citizens General hospital today and were reported as not yet out of danger. They were C. Mauros, C. M. Scopalis and J. Brown.

It's easy to understand why some men take to these endurance fights. They're the fellows who like to stay up all night.—The Ann Arbor Daily News.

Consistory Committee Discusses Coming Picnic

Are Agreed That Outing will Be "One Big Day" In History Of City

Success Of Event Is Assured
After General Committee Gets Together

"When," said C. E. Brown, clicking a bit of cigar ash from his immaculate summer shirt front, "when is a half holiday, not a half holiday?"

Ed, is chairman, so somebody had to answer him. That thought occurred to three of the committee, and all three replied at once, "when it rains."

"Wrong," said Ed. "It's—"

"Mr. Chairman," interrupted ex-Mayor W. H. Dunlap, another member of the committee, "what was this meeting called for?"

"To discuss the picnic," said C. E. "I was just going to report that the Legion of Honor would have charge of the picnic."

"What about the coming?" inquired Stan Tressler, who always thinks of something like that. "And how are they going to be taken care of?—What will the sports wear?"

"You are out of order," said the chairman.

"No, I'm not. I got caught in the rain on a surveying job and am a little lame," replied Stan.

"You'll be lame after the ball game," opined Bruce Love. "I advise you to get a job as umpire of the kids' games."

"Picnics," said a voice suddenly, "are the one American institution that doesn't change. They were fun when I was a kid and they are fun now."

The conversation was plainly becoming general. The publicity man sought to bring it back to details. "How many do you expect to be there?" he asked.

"We had about 6,000 last year," said Chairman Ed. "We expect twice that many this year."

"How are you going to get them there?"

"Those who don't want to come in cars can hook onto a trolley."

"Remember when we all went to picnics in the trolleys with somebody always pulling the bell to see the car stop?"

"This meeting," said the chairman with dignity, "is a business meeting, not an experience meeting."

"What was it called for?" asked the secretary, who had been making squares and triangles on the piece of paper he had brought to keep the records.

"To report that the picnic is going to be a success," said the chairman. "There will be moving pictures taken of the ladies and children, and—"

"And of the handsome men who keep sticking their faces in front of the camera," interrupted the committee pessimist who was put on to do the committee's worrying for them.

"Did we fix the date?" asked the member, known to every committee, who hasn't been to any of the previous meetings, "and where is it to be?"

"Cascade Park, Wednesday afternoon, July 31, 1929," said the publicity man, who is strong on facts.

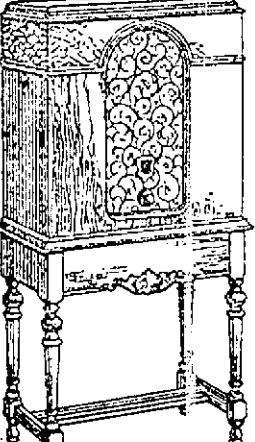

"A. D.," added Stan.

"Look here, you fellows," said C. E., looking sternly over the end of his stogie, which he was lighting for the 14th time, "I asked you a question. When is a half holiday not a half holiday?"

"I'll bite," said the secretary of the committee, making another square on his paper.

"When it's the day of the Scottish Rite picnic. That makes it one big day."

Traveling Church Built For Sackett

Mercer County Evangelist To Tour Country In Specially Built Auto

GROVE CITY, July 22.—The McKay Carriage Company of this city has just completed what is believed to be one of the most beautiful and best house cars ever constructed. For the past four months the mechanics of this firm have been building this fine car for Ohie Sackett, better known as Young Kid McCoy, who in his prize fighting days was known from coast to coast by all those who followed the ring.

For many years Mr. Sackett has devoted his time to preaching the gospel and as a traveling evangelist has spoken to hundreds of churches in the United States and Canada. In 1914 he was associated with Billy Sunday. Realizing that he ought to reach a large number of people who do not attend church, Mr. Sackett had the idea of having a gospel auto car built in which he could travel from town to town, and from which he could preach to the people who would gather to hear his life history.

The first service will be held in Butler, after which Mr. Sackett will go to the coast.

House-Cat Kills Copperhead Snakes

MOUNT SAVAGE, Md., July 22.—Miss Katie McNamee, who lives in the northern part of this town, has a cat that hunts copperhead snakes. The cat, answering to the name of "Puff," has killed eight copperheads this season, ranging from 14 inches to two feet in length.

LADY THOUGHT END WAS NEAR, HEALTH SO BAD

Ill For Years; Relieved By Famous
New Medicine, Ten Herbs

All who suffer from stomach, liver, kidney or bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis or nervousness, should take hope when they learn that in a remarkable number of instances the new natural medicine, Ten Herbs, has given men and women of this section amazing relief from such health troubles, after many other medicines had failed to help them. If you have any such ills, get a bottle of Ten Herbs today at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington St., this city, where this wonderful compound with the ten celebrated herbal ingredients is being introduced.

"Ten Herbs helped me back to health, although before taking your medicine, I thought I was almost at the end," said Mrs. Pearl Homyak, 325 Phoenix Street, McKees Rocks, Pa. (near Pittsburgh). "For years I had suffered pain and distress due to stomach trouble. My appetite was poor, and gas caused bloating and terrible heartburn. I was subject to headaches, and had severe pains in my back. Black spots floated before my eyes. I never slept well, as my rest was disturbed by having to arise four or five times every night. I felt dull and drowsy during the day.

"Several times I had read in the paper about the great good Ten Herbs was doing others, whose health troubles were similar to mine. I tried a bottle, and it made me feel so much better that I continued using your medicine for awhile. All my ailments disappeared, and I began to feel energetic again. I had no more trouble with my stomach, as food digested as it should. Constipation became a thing of the past, and I gained freedom from aches and pains. I began to sleep soundly through the night, and got up in the morning feeling fine. It gives me pleasure to recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and is sold by all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Leaping Into Space Quite Commonplace To Detroit Youth

Crane Has Made 227 Leaps
In Parachute From Plane

Tells What's On His Mind
As He Floats Down
To Ground

By "BUGS" WALTHER
What does a parachute jumper think about when he is drifting through space, living to his given word, and hoping that the wind does not carry him into a nice wet lake or pond?

This question has often bothered the writer as he has watched any number of "chute" leapers in the pursuit of their daily labors. Recently the writer had occasion to interview a well-known young man who risks his neck to have the citizens of the nation thrill.

The young man in question is Joe Crane, a resident of 130 Eastlawn avenue, Detroit, Mich., who talked very freely of his leaps through the quiet zone.

What to Think About
"What do you think about when you are slowly drifting toward the ground after a leap from a plane?" Crane was asked.

The young man replied, "Well, to tell you the truth, about the only thing that I have time to think about is getting down to the good old terra firma."

"What kind of a feeling do you have after you have stepped out on the wing of the plane?"

"It is a funny feeling; your heart just naturally goes clear up into your throat, and if you are not used to jumping, well, that is another matter."

"Can you work the ropes in your descent to the earth?"

Crane replied in the affirmative. "Not many people think that the parachute can be controlled, but it can."

Yesterday afternoon Crane went aloft in a plane owned by Ralph Keg-arise and piloted by Robert "Bob" Fox, and jumped at the New Castle airport.

It was necessary for Roy Bradford to enlist the services of Ralph Keg-arise and his Eaglerock biplane, due to the fact that Crane had to have some place to step to before making his jump. The monoplane is unfit for "chute" work.

At an altitude of perhaps 2,000 feet the following conversation took place:

Just Dropped Off
"Well, boys, I guess I am ready."

Thus speaking to Ralph Keg-arise and his young pilot, Keg-arise had gone along to observe how Crane prepared for his leap.

"So long, Bob!"
"Goodbye, Ralph. Here I go."

With these two short sentences the young man climbed out of the cockpit in which he had been seated with Keg-arise and stepped nimbly to the wing of the plane.

For only a second or two the young man paused on the wing and then leaped into space.

Down, down he zoomed, and in a twinkling of an eye had ripped the cord and the big umbrella-shaped piece of canvas had unfolded as gracefully as a butterfly spreading her wings.

Crane was seen to be working the ropes easily as he approached the field.

Hit Center of Field
He alighted almost in the center of the field. A perfect landing.

Crane told the writer that the leap he made yesterday was his 227th. He has been jumping for the past six years. He received his training at an army field.

"What is the highest jump that you have ever made?"

"Well, I once dropped 20,300 feet for a perfect landing."

Crane at one time held two records for parachute jumping, having fallen 2,250 feet before he ripped the cord, and another time he broke this record by falling 4,000 feet before pulling the "strings" that means so much in the life of a "chute" jumper.

Young Woman Watches
A young woman, vitally interested in everything that young Crane did, sat watching the youth as he strapped the parachute on his back. She did not say a word, but it was plain to be seen that she was rather nervous.

that she would just as soon Joe wouldn't make any more leaps. As the young man slowly descended to the ground her gaze was transfixed on him. She breathed a sigh of relief as his feet touched the earth.

It was all over for another day. She seemed to say, "Thank goodness."

Crane can pursue his labors in the "chute" field unmolested by the writer at least, as it is much safer to sit and pound a typewriter than go up so many feet in the air and then suddenly get a notion that you would rather be on the ground. May-be someone called Joe to the telephone, who knows, but he came down nevertheless.

The big crowd that gazed heavenward as Crane made his descent yesterday was given a big thrill as the Ford air-liner which had taken the air about the same time as the Keg-arise ship took off, dove and seemed to come dangerously close to Crane as he drifted to earth. But in reality the big Ford ship was quite a distance away. From the ground it looked as if the big canvas bag that was supporting Crane would be crushed by the plane that was diving and banking all around him.

Crane is the same young man that leaped from an airplane loaned by Roy Bradford of the New Castle airport to the football committee last fall for the purpose of pulling a "chute" stunt at Ben Franklin Field.

Delegates Will Be Selected Thursday

A meeting of the sub-district of the Epworth League will be held Thursday, July 25, at 8 p. m. in the First M. E. church of this city. Dr. S. L. Maxwell, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, will be the principal speaker.

"There will be members in attendance from all sections of the district. The special purpose of the gathering is the election of delegates to the annual Epworth League institute to be held at Meadville the week of August 5.

"That might have a thousand eyes," sang the poet. In theory, perhaps. But with so many one-eyed ears, the actual number is probably 867.

The papers tell of a traffic cop who speaks nine languages, but don't say whether his Billings gate is included in the count.

Hay Fever Home Treatment

If you want a really effective treatment for Hay Fever, go right to McKee's Kait Hite Store and ask for a bottle of Ope.

Spray the nose two or three times a day—after meals if necessary. It will not only stop the itching and sneezing, but it will promptly stop the humiliating discharge. If it does not suit you, return it.

If you start to use Ope now the expected attack may not appear—this happened in many cases last year.

The price is but $1.00 and McKee's Kait Hite Store will gladly tell you all about it.

Davies Candidate For City Council

Present Member Of Commission
Is Out For Re-
Election

D. O. DAVIES

To the voters of New Castle.
I wish to announce as a candidate for re-election to the City Council, subject to the Republican Primaries, September 17th, 1929.

In asking for your support, I fully appreciate the confidence that you have heretofore placed in me; and if nominated and elected, I shall continue to devote my entire time to the business of the city, and to discharge the duties of the office with fidelity, keeping ever in mind the best interests of the tax payers of our city.

My qualifications, including experience, integrity and aptness for the work at hand are covered by my record in the past.

I have endeavored at all times to give the citizens courteous and efficient service and can only promise, if re-elected, to continue the same. Respectfully soliciting your influence and vote, I am,

Yours truly,
D. O. DAVIES.

U. S. Will Permit Whisky Making

2,000,000 Gallons To Be Produced By Distilleries In First Year

Don't Get Thirsty, Though.
It's All For Medicinal Purposes

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Pure, carefully-distilled, fully-aged and lawful whisky is about to be produced in the United States for the first time in eight years.

Prohibition Commissioner James M. Dorian announced Sunday that his bureau is ready to act on applications for permits to manufacture, in order to replenish the stock of whisky for medicinal use.

Two million gallons will be made in the first year. Barrel soakage and evaporation will reduce this in four years to between 1,600,000 and 1,700,000 gallons, Dorian said.

70 Per Cent to Be Bourbon.
About 70 per cent of the new whisky will be bourbon and the rest rye.

The amount to be made in future years will be governed by conditions at the time, Dorian said.

Six distillers or groups of distillers will make the whisky.

Three Women And One Man
Killed In Accidents; Eight
Persons Suffer Injury

(International News Service)
SHARON, Pa., July 22.—Three women and one man were dead and eight persons were injured, two of whom may die in the heaviest accident toll in the section in months, a check showed today.

Mrs. Mary Blanchard, William Blanchard, her husband, and Helen Blanchard, 20, their daughter, were killed in an accident; and five other persons were injured. Mrs. Julia Womer, 65, of Transier was killed in another auto collision and her husband seriously hurt.

The Blanchards en route to Conneaut Lake Park to attend the Pittsburgh Shrine convention, were in a machine which struck head-on with a car driven by C. G. Metz of Sioux City, Ia., near St. John's church on the Greenville-Mercer road. Blanchard and the daughter were killed instantly. The wife died from a broken back in the Greenville hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Metz, their two children, Mrs. Metz' mother, Mrs. A. S. Lee of Erie, and Mrs. Olive Burke, of Sioux City were all injured. Injuries of Miss Catherine Blanchard were considered critical.

Mrs. Womer was killed and her husband seriously hurt when the car driven by their daughter, Mrs. George Morrison, turned onto the main road and collided with a machine driven by Philip Diskin, of Meadville. Joseph Womer was taken to Buhl hospital. Diskin, his wife and Mrs. Sara Young, all of Meadville were uninjured. Morrison and his daughter, May, 16, were not hurt.

Motor Accidents Over Saturday
And Sunday Kill One,
Six Suffer Injuries

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 22.—One death and six injuries in automobile accidents had been recorded over the weekend here. Paul Westwick, 20, of Bellefonte was fatally injured near Ernsworth when an automobile in which he was riding overturned. John O'Day, driver, was placed under arrest by police of Avalon.

William McClockie, Jr., and John Cavanaugh, 27, were arrested on drunkenness charges after their machine wrecked against an iron pole, injuring both. Broni East, 21, and William Verbinski, were bruised when their car attempted to climb a pole.

Mrs. Jennie Hardin, 65, suffered a fractured skull when she was hit by a car. Michael Nichols, 27, was injured when hit by a car.

The question is, does boyhood on a farm make a man great, or does it just take a great man to work up from that?

A Message To Underweight
Men And Women

The one supremely good health building tonic that is also the one great weight producer known to modern science the country over is McCoy's Tablets.

They build flesh where flesh is needed—sunken cheeks, neck and chest—and many a man and woman, skinny and scrawny, have thanked McCoy's after a few weeks treatment for the decided improvement in looks and figure.

Many times the increase in weight is astonishing—one exceedingly thin woman gained 16 pounds in 22 days.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Car Overturns Near Harlansburg When Radius Rod Suddenly Snaps

Mrs. Fred Llewellyn, of Harlansburg, is recovering from injuries sustained in an auto accident on the Harlansburg road, Saturday, near the village.

She was driving her car near the top of the hill leading into Harlansburg, when the radius rod of the machine broke. The car swerved and overturned. She was alone in the machine, and when it alighted on one side, climbed out through the side door. She was not seriously hurt, although she received a cut and her knees were bruised.

It was a narrow escape, but it is not believed that she will suffer any ill effects from the accident.

THE NEWS, ONE YEAR, BY MAIL, $5.00

Hotel Man Will Try To Identify Pair As Race Track Swindlers

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Pictures of two men held in Newport, R. I., were to be sent here today for inspection by Jacob C. Hazelbaker, former hotel man. Detective Inspector Frank R. Boyd said Hazelbaker lost $135,000 in a race track scheme in Montreal, Canada, last August. Hazelbaker learned of the arrest of the two men giving names as Joe Goetz and Jacob Meyers, for a scheme similar to the one in which he lost his money. The men were charged with swindling a Newport man.

The men met him on a liner from Europe, the Pittsburgh hotel man revealed, and offered to "let him in" in a plan to beat the horse races. A third man placed a bet on a race already "in the bag" according to their system, and won half a million dollars, Hazelbaker said. The men offered to admit him to the charmed circle of "sure things" races if he would show collateral to back his financial status, the hotel man said.

Returning to Pittsburgh, Hazelbaker got a check for $135,000 and returned to Montreal. There he became involved in an imbroglio from which he claimed he was lucky to escape, losing his money and not his life.

The unusual story of race track plotting and huge stakes was told to Inspector Boyd, who wired Newport asking that the pictures of the men be rushed here for possible identification by Hazelbaker as the men with whom he dealt.

Bo-Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, July 22.—Chorus girls are so scarce that a Broadway agent said if two hundred of them walked in tomorrow and asked for jobs he could place every one of them and still need more.

The education of a new generation of dancers is necessary now that the talkies are here with their innumerable musical plays and operettas.

The need of dancers is so keen that the First National Vitaphone studios have established a training school of their own where girls between the ages of 17 and 18 with natural dancing talent are eligible, with tuition free.

Special masters have been engaged to perfect the girls in the art. Each pupil signs an agreement whereby First National has an option on her services for three years, and no pupil is used in a picture until she has attended the school for a year.

Here's a chance to crash the movies if your feet are amenable. Your head doesn't matter.

PLAY TO BE EXPOSED

Herman Lieb, playwright, has just completed a play called "Dope" in preparation for fall production. Sylvester Sullivan, formerly of the Frohman office, will be one of the firm making the presentation.

Lieb was prompted to write the play because of reports of the widespread use of drugs in New York. He didn't sit down and use his imagination. Before touching a pen to paper, Herman let his whiskers grow.

Norwegian Giant Enters Editorial Rooms Of News This Afternoon

Into The New Castle News editorial office this afternoon walked the tallest man that has ever been inside The News building.

He was Count Olaf, Norwegian Viking giant, and he stood exactly eight feet nine inches tall, and weighed 323 pounds.

There are some tall men on The News editorial force, but they looked like infants when standing beside the 23-year-old giant.

The giant is in the city this week with the Chery and Rubin show, and dropped into The News office to greet the newspaper men.

During the afternoon he was acting as traffic officer at one of the downtown corners.

attention. In 1911 the rundown Chinese empire crumbled. A nation containing one-fourth of the world's population was left leaderless. Would-be dictators tried to hold tight the reins. Democratic ideas were sown and watered and tended by Dr. Sun. Finally the democratic ideas triumphed. A republic was set up. One government tried to function in Peking, one in Canton. Civil war continued. Armies were mostly bands of bandits fighting under strong leaders who were more interested in looting the country than in making a stable government. The southern government is no more. China is a republic. The capital is in Peking. Strong men are in the leadership. A scholastic of the writer, Dr. Kung, is in the cabinet. He is an able and brilliant man. There are still groups of rebels. But China's great fight is over. She will grow in stability.

And so, in our day, one of the not always think and talk in terms of war. We ought constantly to be able to see over the horizon to the day when war will no longer be the means of settling the world's disputes. On the other hand, do not forget that over-growth of population in some parts of the earth and other natural causes which have nothing to do with political disputes may one day force an upset of the peace of the world.

In the end peace will prevail. If we are short-range pessimists, let us, as Albert Wiggam says, be long-range optimists.

SHOOTING.

Doubtless the cause of prohibition is badly damaged by the careless use of firearms on the part of endorse-ment officers. It is too much to ask non-enforcement officer to go un-armed against armed bootleggers, but it is not too much to ask the government to employ non-enforcement officers who haven't sense enough and judgment enough to keep from shooting to kill on ill-founded suspicion.

RAIN.

Scientists say there is no part of fighting under strong leaders who the world in which it does not seem-ers more interested in looting the country than in making a stable gov-ernment. The armies have grown of tired. The southern government is no more. China is a republic. The capital is in Peking. Strong men are in the leadership. June Busy Month At Local Mission

Annual Picnic For Children
Was Biggest Event.
Other Data

Featuring activities of the City Rescue Mission during the month of June was the annual outing for the children of the Bible school at Lakewood beach June 28. Nightly attendance at the services are increasing. Superintendent B. J. Watkins stated:

Following is his report for June: Twenty-eight mission services were held. Five Sunday school services, two open air gospel services. None were held outside the city.

One special speaker was at the mission this month, two persons were prayed with in the mission, 27 were prayed with in homes and hospitals, six Gospels of John were distributed, 169 calls and investigations were made, 46 meals furnished, 43 beds furnished for transient, eight free baths were given, 69 odd jobs were provided, 69 donations were received, 45 families donated or purchased donated clothing, five donations of furniture were given, six families and individuals received furniture and one basket of potatoes was given away.

Many people have attended the nightly services of the mission. Children's day was observed on Sunday afternoon, June 16. The program was presented by the children under the direction of Mabel Wimer and was much appreciated. The regular Thursday evening Bible class taught by Mr. Geiger has been exceptionally well attended.

The superintendent, B. J. Watkins, spent considerable time this month getting the provisions lined up for the mission picnic which was held at Lakewood beach on Friday, June 28. This picnic was given for the Sunday school and sewing school scholars and teachers.

There were 255 present who enjoyed the free picnic dinner which was served at noon. Supper was also served. The afternoon was spent with races, swimming, etc. This was an ideal day and will long be remembered by those who were present. There were no accidents and everything went smoothly. Order was maintained throughout the day.

Through the courtesy of friends trucks and cars were donated to take the children and older folks to Lakewood beach at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and return them about 6 o'clock in the evening. People were very kind and generous which made our picnic a great success.

Mr. Geiger did quite a lot of soliciting this month and a lot of nice clothing was donated to the mission. Many people were helped with clothing during the month. Furniture was sent in by several people and was given out to those in need.

An elderly man gave us two days time when he was washed the basement of the mission. We gave him some furniture as a recompense for his services.

Several ladies who came to the mission were glad to come and wash the dishes before and after the picnic. There were quite a lot of men traveling on the road. We took care of a great number in the way of a night's lodging.

Eight odd jobs were secured for folks who were seeking employment. Furniture donations for the month were as follows: A child's bed, two stoves, a couch, a large mirror, a set of bed springs, some chairs and a bed complete.

Furniture given out was as follows: A carpet sweeper, a washing machine, an ironing board, a hot plate for gas, two chairs, also a lady who had been in the hospital and was in need of an extra bed, was given a bed, springs and mattress.

A large basket of groceries was brought in by a friend. These were given out to those in need of food.

The expense of the annual mission picnic was taken care of by money contributions which were given for this purpose. The picnic left no debt and this fact was greatly appreciated by the board of directors.

THINGS A COOK SHOULD KNOW

Let These Cookery Secrets
Make Foods Taste Better

Sugar may be described as the partly understood food. Everyone knows that sweets are valuable energy foods, but sugar's supreme service to good cookery is as a flavorer.

Add a dash of sugar to cereal while it is being cooked and you will discover what seems to be an entirely new flavor. Flavors of cereal are very delicate. The dash of sugar develops them so that they can be tasted.

A little sugar brings out the natural flavors of fruits when stewed, making them delicious. A little sugar softens the fruit acids of the citrus fruits and of berries.

Sugar demonstrates its supreme condimental power when a dash of it is added to vegetables when they are cooking (preferably in little water). This use of sugar makes these essential foods delightful to the taste.

Small amounts of sugar added to chopped beef, pot-roasts, stews, ragouts and other inexpensive dishes makes the finished product richer in flavor and more appetizing in appearance.

A little sugar distinctly improves both the flavor and color of almost every sauce or gravy served with meat, especially if made from the juices of the meat.

Think of sugar as a flavorer. Use it to make the balanced meal enjoyable to eat. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Report Hoyt Is Forced Down On Return Flight

Pilot Uninjured Says Report
From Edmonton, Alberta,
Canada

(International News Service) EDMONTON, Alberta, Canada, July 22.—United States army pilot, Capt. Hoyt, was forced down at Fairmont, British Columbia, on his return flight from Nome, Alaska, to New York, according to word received here early today.

The plane was completely wrecked, the message stated, but the pilot was not injured. No details were given.

Fairmont is about 250 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Capt. Hoyt left White Horse, Yukon territory, yesterday morning at eleven o'clock and had planned to reach Edmonton last night. After battling rain, fog and head winds on the last leg of his flight to Nome, he had been favored by a stiff tail wind on the return journey.

Hoyt had stopped at Fairbanks, Alaska, late Saturday night, on the return trip somewhat exhausted by his battle with the elements. He had expected to reach New York early this afternoon after stopping at Edmonton and Minneapolis.

The intrepid aviator negotiated the 500-mile hop from Fairbanks to White Horse in safety, but came to grief on the last part of the 1,000-mile jump from White Horse to Edmonton, the longest hop of the flight.

Richard Connelly To Leave Thursday For South America

New Castle Young Man Going To Columbia, South America
As Steel Company
Engineer

Richard "Dick" Connelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Connelly of 214 Park avenue, will sail on the S. S. Ecuador Thursday for Columbia, South America. Connelly will board the liner at New York City.

The New Castle boy is going to the South American city of Barranquilla, where he will start a trek into the wild country. Connelly is a graduate of Carnegie Tech school of engineering. In South American Connelly will work as a construction engineer for the U. S. Steel Corporation.

After arriving at Barranquilla Connelly will be six days up the Magdalena river before reaching the scene of his work. The new construction line is but a few miles from the equator.

Connelly graduated from Tech in 1928 as president of the senior class in the engineering department. He is a member of the Phi Kappa fraternity and was president of his fraternity. After leaving school he was associated with the Otter-Corcoran Gunite Company of Chicago, Ill., one of the biggest engineering concerns in the mid-west. Later Connelly was with the American Bridge Company, with headquarters in Ambridge, where he served in the designing department. It is likely that he will be in the Latin country for a year or two. The young man has many friends in this city who wish him good luck in his new undertaking and also a safe journey.

Nearly 1200 Births In City Last Year; Death Total Is 598

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—Death is increasing its harvest while life is decreasing its yield in New Castle. It would appear from figures made public by the department of commerce today which reveal that while births became fewer deaths increased in number in the city last year as compared with 1927.

Last year in the city an average of only 220 infants was born for every 10,000 residents, while in 1927 an average of 239 births was reported for every 10,000 population. The 1928 birth rate showing a decrease of 19 births per 10,000 residents below the 1927 birth rate.

Deaths, on the other hand, numbered 114 mortalities for every 10,000

WRITES OF YELLOWSTONE
Yellowstone Park, Wyo., July 17, '29.
Old Faithful Camp.

DEAR FRED:—

We are having such a wonderful trip that I am going to tell you about it and if you are short of news and want to print it, the people who don't get out here may find it interesting.

The scenery around here of course beats Florida all to pieces and it is too bad that more people from the East do not motor out here. The driving is easy all the way and the roads are good. Of course the concrete roads practically ceased when we crossed the Missouri river into Nebraska, but the gravel roads are all right and we rolled right along on them. Got here in six days and the mileage is about 2000 from New Castle to Yellowstone Lake, the first camp inside the park via the Cody entrance.

Almost all the tourists stop at Cabin camps but a lot of them carry tents and equipment and live pretty cheap. Some of the camps have free camping space and some charge 50c and don't get an idea that these tourists are cheap skates. Have seen several Packards, La Salles, Lincolns, etc., carrying their tents, sometimes on trailers but more often their luggage is carried on the running board.

We thought we would try roughing it and stopped at a Cabin camp and liked it so well we have only stopped at one hotel. The Cabin camp is the answer to high hotel rates and west of Chicago the Lincoln highway is dotted with them. They run from $3 to $8 per night for four and generally have a gas or electric stove, electric lights, table, chairs, etc., and the Buffalo Bill camp at North Platte, Neb., was the best we struck. The cabins there had 2 folding beds, gas stove, electric lights, running water, toilet, front porch and garage for $3. They are filled up by 7 p. m. The camps here in Yellowstone Park are all new and clean and cost $2.25 for four of us and have wood stoves. The days are quite hot but at sundown it is cold enough for an overcoat and we sleep with two quilts over us. There are tourists here from every state in the union but very few from Pennsylvania. More California cars than any other state. Saw an old Ford from Ohio with no top and four boys in it with a sign on it "School Boys, Drive Slow." The people are all very congenial and act like a bunch of Rotarians at a convention. This is our fourth day in the park and we have enjoyed it immensely. Stopped at Yellowstone Lake first night and that camp is famous for its good fishing. I caught my first fish here from the fishing bridge. It was a Rainbow trout and sure tasted fine. The New Castle fishermen sure would go crazy over the fishing there. The bears were more neighborly there than at any other camp and tipped your garbage cans over right before your eyes in daytime. Next we went to Canyon camp and spent a day viewing the wonderful canyon and falls. Thence to Mammoth Hot Springs, via Mt. Washburn 10,300 foot altitude. Believe me, everyone's car boiled up that climb and we were all glad to go into low at several points. A gasoline motor at these levels loses about 50 per cent of its efficiency, therefore it is hard climbing. Plenty of snow banks up there and we snowballed of course. Met a couple of Mormons and got talking with them and when I found they were Mormons and said "Why I thought you fellows would have a half dozen wives," and they said, "No Sir, one is enough for us. Mormons don't do that anymore, but it wasn't wrong when they did do it."

Then we drove here to Old Faithful camp and have been more impressed with these geysers, hot springs, etc., than anything else. Old Faithful erupts about every 65 minutes now, but the rest are very irregular, spouting maybe in from 6 hours to two weeks. We just happened along as the Grand Geyser was playing and also saw the Castle Geyser and several small ones. The water from them is sure hot. At night the Rangers in the different camps give a lecture and last night we sat on log seats and the audience of 2,000 enjoyed a talk and a big Grizzly came out. They are on wild animals in Yellowstone. We faced a bear feeding ground which is a garbage dump known as a "Salad Only" or "Lunch Counter for Bears Only," and there were six black bears on the lunch counter feeding, when all at once they all jumped and ran all afraid of the Grizzly and a Ranger is on hand with a rifle for protection. All game is protected here and the Wild Life wouldn't have any fun at all as they seal up all firearms when you enter the park. For my part, however, I got more enjoyment seeing the game alive, and feeding them, than I do seeing them hanging dead over some game hog's back.

The bear, squirrels, ground hogs, deer, etc., will eat out of your hand here. Bud was 5 years old today and to celebrate for him we set the table out in the woods and while we were eating a big black bear started for us and a cowboy yelled at us to throw him something to eat or he would climb up on the table, which we did. Then to scare him away we beat on a tin pan. But Bud thinks he had a wonderful party with a bear and also a squirrel as guests. We leave here tomorrow for Custer's battlefield and Crow Indian Agency. Home sometime. Regards to all.

Sincerely yours,
REX L. PATCH.

HOMEWARD BOUND
GOTHENBURGH, Neb., July 18.
Mr. George Conway, Editor News:

Yesterday I came through the North Platte river sugar beet section in Wyoming and western Nebraska. With sugar factories at almost every town from Tingle to North Platte, it bids fair to supplant the potato growing industry.

The first one was established at Scott's Bluff, and now Tingle, Torrington, Henry, Mitchell, Hale, Minatare, Bayard, Northport, Broadwater, Oshkosh, Lewellen, all have them. I suppose half of the land under cultivation is devoted to sugar beet raising, while potatoes, wheat, oats, barley and corn, along with alfalfa, hay, are raised on the rest of it. The first cutting of alfalfa is over and the second will be ready in about 10 days. Everybody was busy hoeing and cultivating their beets and harvesting their wheat and barley. It seemed strange to see combines harvesting wheat where cattle, sheep and antelope grazed 30 years ago. I saw myself a herd of antelope peacefully grazing with the cattle on the site of where the city of Scott's Bluff now stands.

They employ a good many Mexicans to hoe and thin beets; they plant them in rows 16 or 18 inches wide and cultivate four rows at a time, with two-horse workers. I only saw one tractor cultivating beets.

Combines for harvesting grain are more common in Wyoming than they are in Nebraska. I have seen but few and they were in the extreme western part. The corn they raise out there is of the small and early varieties and it gradually gets larger till down here it is four and five feet tall. So does the sunflower get larger that Brigham Young scattered along the trail to guide the Saints to the promised land as you come east. So does also the sweet clover that the pagan bee keepers have scattered along the roadsides until it is everywhere along the creeks and roads. Beekeeping has got to be quite an industry. I counted 150 hives in one apiary and it is common to see smaller ones wherever there is honey-alfa and sweet clover. If anyone doing contributes more than another to the prosperity of the western part of the state, and particularly in the Platte valley, which is 12 miles wide where I am writing it is alfalfa. Thirty years ago I saw but one field of 10 acres that was grown by irrigation. Now if there is one there are a million. The secret is the sheet water which underlies the western part of the valley at the same depth, and the whole western part of the state, for that matter. At this place a well 12 feet deep cannot be pumped dry. Up on the hills it is the same when they reach the common level. The water everywhere is the same. When the roots of the alfalfa reach it it never lacks for moisture. But sugar beets cannot be raised in this western country without irrigation.

Threshing for wheat and barley will commence here next week. If I thought I could get a job I might stay over a while. But I suppose I would have to dye my hair. When I asked an old fellow who had a coal bank if there was any chance to get a job, he looked at me and said, "you are like me, you have seen too many years."

I suppose sugar beets pay as well as most farm drudgery. One young man told me that one year with another about the same amount of money. It looks very nice to see three men cutting and threshing grain with a combine and loading it on a truck without stopping. But a very intelligent young man informed me that one of the leading wheat growers of eastern Wyoming, who received a check for $11,000 for last year's crop, could not get harvest hands to work for him until the local bank guaranteed their wages.

NAMING NEW CASTLE
July 18, 1929.
Harbor Springs, Mich.

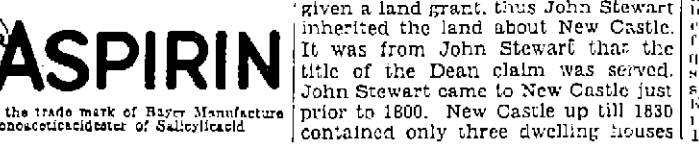

Editor News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I read your request for information concerning the naming of New Castle. I spent some of my young life just East of New Castle with my grandfather, Simon Dean, who came to New Castle in 1818 with his father. My grandfather in his old age gave very accurate accounts of events in his childhood and spent many hours relating the events of his youth to me.

He stated Lawrence county was inhabited by Delaware Indians, of the Shawnee when he was a child, the big chief was named Pahankee and had his lodge for about two years near the location of the over flowing well on the McCracken place.

Grandfather said that New Castle was named by John Stewart for the place of his birth, New Castle, Delaware. My great-grandfather came to Lawrence Co. from Eastern Penna. with a relative of John Stewart's name of McKortee. Stewart's father was a Revolutionary soldier, who was given a land grant, thus John Stewart inherited the land about New Castle. It was from John Stewart that the title of the Dean claim was served. John Stewart came to New Castle just prior to 1800. New Castle up till 1830 contained only three dwelling houses

German Steamer Sets New Record

German Lloyd Bremen, Completes Fast Trip To New York; Four Days

WILL ESTABLISH NEW LINER MARK

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 22.—A dramatic chapter in sea history was being recorded today—a race for steamship supremacy in the North Atlantic.

At noon today the fastest ocean liner in the world, the new North German Lloyd Bremen, was approaching the mouth of New York harbor with all the power of her immense turbines, apparently destined to lower the trans-Atlantic steamship record by hours.

The new "queen of the seas" was due at Ambrose light, at the entrance of the harbor, at 3:30 this afternoon, quarantine an hour later and her pier at Brooklyn at 5:30 p. m. Thus completing the trip from Cherbourg to New York in 4 days 18 hours and 18 minutes.

This would surpass by hours the record held by the mauretania for the westward crossing of 5 days 2 hours and 24 minutes.

Great crowds gathered about the new and spacious piers at Brooklyn, meanwhile, eager to give Bremen a vociferous welcome. City dignitaries also planned to go down the bay to welcome the liner at quarantine.

Last Week For Girl Scouts To Sign For Camp

This is the final week the Girl Scouts of the city can register for the Girl Scout camp. The Girl Scouts will have the Y. M. C. A. camp the last two weeks of August. Girl Scout camp opens on August 13.

Girls desiring to go to camp must register at Scout headquarters not later than this week. Register any day this week at headquarters between the hours of 10 and 12 in the morning and 2 until 4 in the afternoon with the exception of Saturday. On Saturday registration may be made only in the morning.

Two Youths Well Armed, Arrested

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Two boys who were about to enter a career of crime intended to be well equipped, police said today. Anthony Wheeler, 16, and Thomas Sullivan, 16, were to be given firearms on robbery charges.

Two guns, three butcher knives, two bunches of keys, one tooth-brush and one flashlight constituted the implements of trade found on the boys when they were arrested on the premises of a store here, police officers said. The flashlight gave them away, it was said, when pedestrians saw it flashing on the store grounds.

Highland Avenue Equipment Coming

C. C. Coulthard, local superintendent, Pennsylvania-Ohio company today told council that a carload of equipment which is to be used in putting Highland avenue track in good condition already is en route to New Castle. Two Boys Go On Trial For Murder

Lads Accused Of Killing Another Boy Of Eight Years

(International News Service)

WELSH, W. Va., July 22.—Not changed, to outward appearances, by more than a month behind jail bars, Cornell Hamilton, 10, and Hobart Hamilton, 9, of English, McDowell County, were to go to trial today on charges of murder. The brothers were accused of killing their playmate, Raymond Coley, 8, orphan boy whose body was found at English July 13, in the Dry Fork river.

State Reformatory sentences until they are of age would face the boys in case of conviction. Defense counsel had asked a trial by jury and the prosecution was expected to demand that the case be transferred to the juvenile court.

On the eve of their trial, the boys were objects of complaint by fellow prisoners that they played mischievous pranks, keeping the other prisoners awake.

Yesterday the two went to a salvation army religious service and spent the balance of the day reading Sunday newspaper comic supplements.

Police had carried on a two day search for the Coley boy, before his body was found. The Hamilton boys were said to have told conflicting stories as to their relations with their orphan playmate.

Prospects of the trial of the children had aroused the city to a fever pitch and a group of persons was on hand to attend the sessions. The Coley boy had been living with a sister at English.

Tyrell Has Souvenir Of Glass Factory Days

It has been many years since New Castle had a glass factory, but before the modern flapper was born, the glass blower occupied an important position here.

Those were the days when most every family had a souvenir of the glass blower's art, some of them blown in intricate designs. Few of them are seen today, but occasionally one runs across a sample of the work done then.

Officer William Tyrell is one of the few perhaps, who still has a souvenir of the glass blower, and it is such an interesting piece of work that he has kept it since the year it was made, 1898.

At that time Officer Tyrell was employed in the Knox glass plant on the site now occupied by the Jolly Bowl. Among the employees was a

Off with Collar and Tie, Let Comfort Be Unconfined

Led War on Long Skirts,
Doctor Now Seeks Ban
On Men's Collars

D. R. THOMAS DARLINGTON, former health commissioner, who was a leader in the campaign 24 years ago in abolishing long skirts for women, is crusading for the emancipation of man from his present uncomfortable clothing.

Dressed in a tan coat of a heavy poplin material, without collar or tie, light-weight trousers and suspenders, at his New York office he was the picture of comfort. He appeared thus attired at the Rotary Club luncheon at which hundreds of conventional males followed what Darlington regards as a silly custom, the wearing of collar and tie. The coat is similar to that worn by dental students. A Russian blouse effect. Speaking of his cool costume, he said:

"The trouble is that men are more conventional than women. They have less courage than women to begin a change. It is quite proper that they should continue to be conventional in some way—for instance to wear a coat at the table—but as to what is under the coat is another matter. The time has come when someone should do something for the man. He is tired from the heat and weight of clothes and the collar and tie in this hot weather.

"Man's clothing in summer should consist of a cotton union suit, socks, shoes, trousers with suspenders and a coat with a collar. Suspenders are better than a belt. A belt constricts circulation, because

It must be pulled tightly to hold the trousers without wrinkling at the ankle."

The coat worn by the doctor, while buttoning on the side with a high collar effect, is loose and allows for room at the neck. When the modest public is used to this garb it will be able to tolerate seeing the man's neck. Like military's limp showing to the knee the public must first be trained, he said, adding:

"In time, the man will be able to open the collar of his shirt. It is a Chinese custom to dress this way. It seems to me that instead of the Chinese adopting our mode of dress we should adopt theirs for health, comfort, and efficiency."

OFFICERS LOCATE STOLEN AUTO HERE

Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch on Sunday found a Buick coupe abandoned near the German club on South street. It bore an Ohio license and inquiry at Youngstown, resulted in learning the fact that it was the property of Peter Vogelberger of Canfield, Ohio, R. D. No. 2. The owner was notified and came here and secured his car, which had been stolen.

PAYS STIFF FINE ON DISORDERLY CHARGE

Mike Rago arrested Saturday night by Lieutenant of Police Hillers and Sergeant G. C. Sykes following an accident on the Gardner avenue viaduct in which the Rago car hit and damaged the machine of James Murphy, was assessed a fine of $50 by Mayor William H. Gillespie on a charge of disorderly conduct. His actions at the time of the accident were the cause of the stiff fine.

DUMP IS CAUSE OF FIRE ALARM

Firemen were called to fight a blaze in a dump in the rear of the Dr. V. C. Wagner property 615 Croton avenue shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon by an alarm from box 35. There was no damage done to property in the vicinity.

BUYS RED DEER

Mrs. Julia Touzeau of New York said to be a landscape artist, recently bought a red deer from the surplus of animals belonging to the New York zoo, which were auctioned off in Central park. Other animals auctioned were lambs, a fat tailed ram, a zebu, a spotted hyena, two goats, etc.

Would Enter Ring

According to legend women are always looking for rings of the golden kind, but who ever heard of a woman wanting to enter the prize ring? Bobby Burns, a Baltimore widow, believes she learned enough of the manly art under the tutelage of her late husband to give the present featherweight crop a good battle and applied to the Maryland "Commish" for a boxing license.

Loeffler Speaks To Rotary Club

Head Of State Game Commission Makes Address At Noon

New Castle Rotarians had the pleasure today at noon of hearing the man who heads the activities of the Game Commission in Pennsylvania, Ross M. Loeffler of McKeesport, Pa., chairman of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

In an interesting manner he outlined the duties of the Game Commission told of the problems confronting that body, and of the attempts it is making to keep Pennsylvania as the finest game state in the Union.

Lawrence County Outstanding. "Here in Lawrence county you have a large part in the program of the game commission," he said. "When we first thought of game propagation farms, the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association was the first to back us, not only morally but financially. Hence you have the Charles G. Pordan Game Farm here, and very handsomely so."

The duty of the game commission is not to shut off hunting when game becomes scarce, but to provide more game through other means. This is the work of the game farms and Lawrence county heads up the entire western end of Pennsylvania in this respect."

The talk was a timely one for in the Rotary club are many men who are sportsmen and who have interested themselves in the various movements to make better hunting and fishing in Pennsylvania.

The dinner today was served in the Carnegie auditorium and a feature of it was the fact that the girls of the playground served it. The meal was prepared by the instructors of the playground under the supervision of Miss May Martin. Special guests were A. P. Mathieson of Pittsburgh, John C. Tanager, assistant general superintendent of the Carnegie Steel company, Charles C. Withers, president of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association. The speaker was introduced by Robert J. Tully, manager of the Carnegie Steel company plant.

USE COTTON

Absorbent cotton can be used as a filter for almost any liquid. For filtering, place a wad of cotton in the neck of a funnel and pour the liquid upon it. The cotton should not be packed too tightly.

Tough on Senators

With Walter Johnson, famous "Big Train," very ill, the Washington Senators are functioning without a manager and now Clark Griffith, above, their owner, is seriously ill. He was stricken with appendicitis while at hearing before Judge Landis in Chicago, Ill., where an emergency operation was performed.

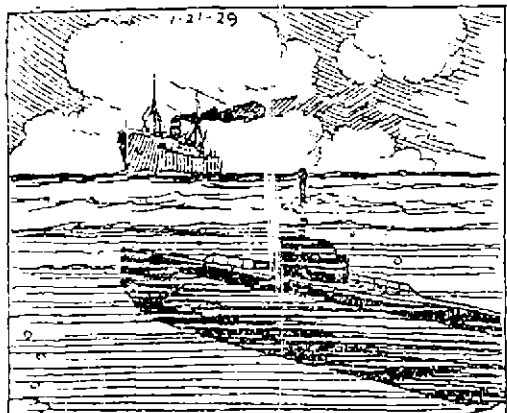

Loses Match to Cupid

Miss Marion Turpe probably could have given Cupid a trouncing if she had played her favorite game, golf, but she succumbed to his game and will marry Robert C. Lake of New York according to her parents. The romance started while Miss Turpe was playing at Puchurst, N. C., last winter.

The Story Of The World War
67—The Sinking Of The "Lusitania"

THE BEGINNING OF 1915 WAS MARKED BY INCREASED ACTIVITY ON THE PART OF THE GERMAN SUBMARINES. THE NUMBER OF ALLIED MERCHANTMEN SUNK WITHOUT WARNING STEADILY GREW. THE GERMANS PAYING LITTLE HEED TO PROTESTS AND DECLARING THAT THE U-BOAT WAS A NEW WEAPON NOT TO BE BOUND BY THE OLD RULES RESTRICTING NAVAL WARFARE.

IN FEBRUARY, 1915, WASHINGTON NOTIFIED BERLIN THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD HOLD THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT STRICTLY ACCOUNTABLE IF AMERICAN SHIPS WERE SUNK OR AMERICAN CITIZENS KILLED BY GERMAN SUBMARINES. THE GERMANS TREATED THIS WARNING AS AN IDLE THREAT.

MAY 7, 1915, THE "LUSITANIA", ONE OF THE LARGEST AND FINEST OF THE BRITISH TRANS-ATLANTIC PASSENGER "LINERS", WAS SENT TO THE BOTTOM OFF THE COAST OF IRELAND BY A GERMAN U-BOAT. 1,153 MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN BEING DROWNED. AMONG THE VICTIMS WERE 114 AMERICANS.

FEW AMERICANS HAD WISHED THE UNITED STATES TO TAKE PART IN THE WORLD WAR, BUT THE SINKING OF THE "LUSITANIA" AROUSED THE AMERICAN PUBLIC TO MAKE STERN PROTEST AGAINST THIS INHUMAN FORM OF WARFARE AND TO DEMAND REDRESS FROM GERMANY.

PRESIDENT WILSON, TAKING A MODERATE COURSE, ASKED GERMANY TO EXPLAIN HER ACT. THE REPLIES TO HIS FIRST TWO NOTES PROVING UNSATISFACTORY, THE PRESIDENT SENT A THIRD NOTE, WARNING GERMANY THAT WE SHOULD CONSIDER ANOTHER SUCH ACT "DELIBERATELY UN-FRIENDLY."

THE GERMANS SAW THEY HAD GONE TOO FAR, AND FOR A WHILE REFRAINED FROM SINKING SHIPS WITHOUT WARNING. TOMORROW—ITALY ENTERS THE STRUGGLE.

Carpentero Battles Grande Here Tonight

Expect Big Crowd To Witness Fight

Sammy Harris And Sammy Lupica To Meet In Semi-Final Bout

THREE GOOD PRELIM BOUTS ARE ARRANGED

Enthusiasts of boxing who have never witnessed two Filipinos oppose each other in a fistie combat will have the opportunity when Frisco Grande of Buffalo and Luis Carpentero of Toledo step into a ring at Jolly bowl tonight. The flyweights are scheduled to go 10 rounds. Both have appeared and made good here and fans feel certain that many thrills will interpenetrate the pugilistic set to before the battle is finished.

Grande arrived here yesterday. He was accompanied by Tommy Ryan, a shrewd handler of fighting boys. He looks to be the very picture of physical condition. Carpentero arrived last night. Charlie George, chief trainer for Ad Thatcher accompanied Luis who also radiated with fighting confidence. Both expressed confidence in their ability to win and they went through light-workouts at different times at a local gymnasium.

Stared Thrilling Bout
Fans have not forgot the stirring battles Carpentero boxed with Ernie Peters and Willie Davies and Grande's fight with Davies and the fast stepping Midget Wolcott. In fact the battles were followed by an aftermath of talk. As the result of these contests and the resultant talk a big crowd will be present to see the Filipinos as it is the first time in this section that two brown boys have opposed each other.

Lupica vs. Harris
The semi-final will be a six round set to featured by Sammy Harris of Akron and Sammy Lupica of Toledo. Harris will have a several inch advantage in height and reach but what Lupica lacks in these respects will be made up in punch as he is a stiffer hitter than Harris. They have agreed to fight a semi-final here in the hope of getting a crack at Tony Rivera. Each is a main bout performer in Ohio cities and not so long ago Harris fought Eddie Anderson in a main bout at Cleveland and also Eddie Reed in the feature event at Erie. Lupica is a stellar performer. It is reported at Toledo and Columbus.

Munroe Meets Huske
Frank Munroe, the Pittsburgh blacksmith who battled Walker Pickard to a draw at the bowl will meet Knockout Huske a hard-hitting middleweight of Akron. Huske is the chap who knocked down Joe Midway and had him prone when the last bell sounded. Whether Munroe is too tough to be shaken up by the punches of Huske remains to be seen but the certainty exists that it will be a six round bout filled with grueling going.

The four rounders will be fought by Chuck Taggart, light heavyweight of Butler against Warren Farrow of New Castle and Billy Murphy of New Castle against Johnny Lang of Ellwood City, junior welterweights. Taggart will be making his first trip to the bowl, while Lang and Murphy are first-timers. The first bout will go on at nine o'clock daylight savings time. There will be no delays and owing to the feature of two Filipinos opposing each other a big crowd is anticipated as fans know that each can and will battle.

Girl Sprinters

Plan To Compete

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 22.—Girl sprint champions from all parts of the nation, including half a dozen who represented Uncle Sam at the Amsterdam Olympic games, will compete here next Saturday in the 100-yard dash of the National A. A. U. women's track and field championships at Soldier Field.

Betty Robinson, Illinois Women's A. C., who holds the Olympic 100-meter title and who tied the century record of 11.4 a few weeks ago, is the outstanding entry.

Others are Olive Hasenfus, Boston; Katherine McGuire, St. Louis; Jessie Cross, Carrie Jansen and Mary Washburn of New York; Margaret Whitcomb of Dallas, and Olive Kruger of Chattanooga.

The 100-yard dash is one of eleven events to be decided.

Dawson Visits Local Airport

Former Pirate Pitcher, Now Aviator Pays Visit To Roy Bradford Sunday

By "BUGS"

Joe Dawson, for the past two years a pitcher with the Pittsburgh baseball team of the National league, now entirely through with the horsehide game, was a visitor at the New Castle airport on Sunday.

About 12:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon Dawson, handling a small red bi-plane, hovered over the New Castle airport on the Youngstown road.

Dawson had first landed at Kogaris's airport on the New Wilmington road and made inquiry as to the location of the Bradford air field.

The writer happened to be at the airport just as the small red plane settled on the field, and was one of the first to recognize the former Pirate pitcher seated in the cockpit of his ship.

"Are you through with baseball?" the writer parried with the tall gaunt aviator.

"Yes, I am through for good. I am going to devote all my time to aviation."

In conversation with Roy Bradford, owner of the New Castle airport, Dawson gave evidence of having acquired more knowledge of aviation than he did baseball. Dawson talks aviation, and flying very fluently.

After a stay of several hours at the New Castle field the former big league pitcher was off again, headed for Bettis field, with a wave of his hand and promising to pay a return visit to New Castle's airport at an early date.

Dawson is the chap who recently made a forced landing near Pittsburgh and gracefully brought his plane to earth when the motor of something went dead. Two passengers were with Dawson at the time.

New York Boxing Commission Gets Into Hot Water

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 22.—The Madison Square Garden corporation and the New York state athletic commission will renew their warfare today over the proposed Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling bout in September.

The Gardens' option on Sharkey's services expires today and W. F. Carey, president of the organization, intends to name Schmeling as the Bostonian's opponent, although the boxing solons have suspended Schmeling until he fulfills a contract with Humbert Fugazy.

The feud between the Gardens and the commission was caused by Carey's assertion that his organization had the right to hold the bout in some city other than New York. Chicago, Detroit and other cities want the fight.

Danceland Team Leading League

The Danceland team is leading the City League by a fine margin according to figures released on the league today. The Danceland team looks like probable winners in the second half and are now leading with three wins and no losses.

In second place is the Energy team with two wins and two losses. The Colored Stars and Boro A. C. are tied with one and one. The West Pittsburgh team has lost two and won one. The Post Office team has failed to win in two games played.

Following is the standing to date:

	W	L	Pct.
Danceland	3	0	1.000
Energy	2	2	.500
Colored Stars	1	1	.500
Boro A. C.	1	1	.500

E. team goes to Croton field to battle the First Baptists; with Black trumping. The Central Christians will play the Central Presbyterians at Leigh field with Jones officiating. The First Christians meet the Wesley M. E. team at Scotland Lane with Hudson umpiring. The Mahoning team clashes with the Croton team at the Seventh ward field with Rodgers behind the plate.

Move To Curtail

Home Run Drives

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 22.—President Heydler's order to umpires to rub top-soil on the glossy surface of the new baseballs seems to have curbed the epidemic of home run hitting in the National League. During the four days that the order has been in effect, only seven homers have been made in the senior organization.

Ink Drops From Jolly Bowl

Headliners in the coming fistie show, these two swarthy skinned, little flyweights will thrill New Castle with a battle crammed with action from bell to bell. It is the first time in this vicinity that two Filipinos have battled in different cities. Both come from the vicinity of Manila. In appearance they are not much larger than kiewpie dolls, but these particular flyweights are somewhat out of the ordinary. Like the late Pancho Villa, they are punchers and it is punchers the fans like, especially when speed and punch are combined.

Pirates Honored By Boosters Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 22.—The triumphant Pirates, leading the league eight percentage points ahead of the Cubs, were to return to a gallant homecoming reception today from Old Pa Pitt.

Citizens of the city were to welcome the home-town aggregation with enthusiasm they hoped would inspire the Pirates to a National League pennant.

Reservations were rolling in today for the banquet to be given in the Pirates Hall of William Penn Hotel to the team, and more than 600 already had signified their intention of being present. The Pirates were to meet Brooklyn this afternoon.

New Wilmington Girls Win Tennis Contests

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, July 22.—Pitted against New Wilmington's best girl athletes, a picked New Castle girls' tennis team went down to defeat by a 6-1 score in a return match with the college town team here Saturday afternoon.

The New Wilmington team had already chalked up a 6-1 victory against New Castle in a match played on the Boyles field courts last Tuesday evening.

Competition in Saturday's event was very keen and good tennis form was displayed by participants on both teams. New Wilmington's co-ed aggregation clearly had the edge both in form and number of star performers. All of the members of the college town team with the exception of Misses Jones and McCormick, who are Westminister alumni, are students at Westminister college.

The results of Saturday's match: Singles—Miss Derek (N. C.) defeated Miss Jones (N. W.) 2-6, 6-4, 6-4. Miss Robinson (N. W.) defeated Miss Smith (N. C.) 6-4, 8-4. Miss Boyd (N. W.) defeated Miss Owens (N. C.) 6-1, 6-2. Miss McCormick (N. W.) defeated Miss Ekblom (N. C.) 6-1, 6-1. Miss Reese (N. W.) defeated Miss Graham (N. C.) 6-4, 6-0.

Babe Ruth Will Visit Physician

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 22.—Babe Ruth, crippled star of the Yankees, is scheduled to report to Dr. King, the club physician, for an examination of his injured leg here today. The other members of the team are playing an exhibition game in Buffalo today.

Tommy Loughran Is Going To Work, To Assist Blacksmith

Aspirant To Heavyweight Crown Will Be Assistant To Blacksmith

Just Why Tommy Has Decided To Go To Work Is Not Known To His Friends

By DAVID J. WALSH
Special Editor, International News Service
NEW YORK, July 22.—Maybe I have just been taken for a long ride in the young man's private buggy. Possibly I am a credulous cuss who sits up away after nine o'clock, waiting for the bedtime stories. Anyhow, Tommy Loughran, hailed here and there as the coming heavyweight champion of the world and worth upward of a quarter million dollars in his own right, informs me today that he is about to accept a $25-a-week job as the big, honest blacksmith's helper who looks the whole world in the eye and promises to pay faithfully on the first of the month.

This, Mr. Loughran informs me, is to be his sacrifice to the bigger and better heavyweight who is the glowing metal he beats into shape, will be moulded on the anvil of his own exertions. He expects to emerge from the ordeal, six months later, as the best heavyweight of his day and, therefore, the champion of all heavyweights. Loughran says he will abandon the one-hour night in favor of the ten-hour day early in September and if he is hiding somebody, it must be himself. He really believes that he will stand ten hours each day in the glow of the forge and pound that anvil until four and a fraction dollars worth of pounding has been consummated, so to speak.

Just Coincided $51,000
Supposedly, he is going to work, not as Tommy Loughran, the fighter who just got $51,000 for a successful defense of the light heavyweight title, but as Thomas Loughran, a qualified blacksmith's helper. It is the job he held in 1921 and the man who employed him then and the man he says will employ him now are one and the same. This fact, it seems, means that it will be a job and not an exhibition put.

"This guy wouldn't hire me unless I meant to do the work," he explained. "He wants a helper, not an occasional visitor to the shop. I ought to know. Back in 1921, he wouldn't let me fight at night and work for him at the same time. That is, he told me I would have to give up one or the other."

Mr. Loughran apparently didn't find it necessary to flash this thought but I judge that he got very big about it and gave up blacksmithing. It appears now that he must have guessed wrong or he would have been a better man today. Anyhow, if he had done it then, he wouldn't find it necessary to do it now. He figures that the job will turn him out six months later, weighing 190 pounds, not fat pounds, but honest pounds. He has a certain amount of precedent to support the idea in question.

Others Had To Work
Fitzsimmons was a blacksmith in his early days and had the punch of a nightstick, regardless of a body that was comparatively frail. Miltie Tunney was another of the dainty ones and, before he became interested in the finer thing in life, he fought this burden. So he went into the woods, he did, all by himself, this sterling fellow, and attacked some of the biggest trees very fearfully. Ultimately, he returned to civilization and, being strong and absolutely intrepid, he walked right up to Dempsey and gave him a flogging, as it were.

Thomas Loughran, I'm afraid, doesn't love Miltie Tunney for himself alone but he is not above borrowing the gentleman's precedent, the gentleman having no need for this where he is.

"I'll weight 190," says he, "and it will be solid, natural stuff. Any time I stop training now, I weight 186 but a lot of it is fat that slows me up. At the new weight, I'll be just as fast as I ever was but I'll be stronger and tougher. I don't think any heavyweight can beat me now, but six months from now, I'll be sure of it."

City County League Schedule Completed
Affairs in the City County baseball league have been straightened out in good shape and it is proceeding during the last half of the season's schedule as a six-team league. With the addition of the West Pittsburgh and Post Office teams to the league in the place of Princeton, Harlanburg and the National Radiator Colored Stars, who found it necessary to quit before the close of the season, the circuit is one of the fastest and finest that has ever existed in this district.
A new schedule ending August 24 has been arranged for the second half of the season and is now being played. Regular playing days for the league have been Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, but due to the fact that it was desired to shorten the season to August 24 in order to permit a play-off during the last week of August, if necessary, between the winners of the first and second halves of the season for the league championship, it was found necessary to schedule games on several Mondays.
The schedule for the present week with umpire assignments follows:
Wednesday, July 24.
Energy at West Pittsburgh. Walter Evans; Danceland at Cascade A. C. Reed Hogue; Post Office at Boro A. A. "Red" Hamilton.
Friday, July 26.
West Pittsburgh at Boro A. A. Bill Owens.
Saturday, July 27.
Cascade A. C. at Energy. Ben McCann.
Danceland at Post Office. Homer Reed.

Bessemer Tops Pennsy Team

Bessemer Takes Victory By Score 11 To 6 Over Pennsy Team On Saturday

The Bessemer team defeated the Pennsy crew 11 to 6, in a Lawrence County League game, played at the E. & A. field on Saturday afternoon. The game was a pitching duel between Nord and Valley, with honors going to the former. Bessemer combined in the second frame for five runs, and again in the ninth for three more. The Pennsy found Nord in the fourth for a pair of runs, and scored three more in the eighth. Dominick with two doubles was the feature hitter of the game. Anderson, Orlando and R. Nord had doubles. Anderson, Bessemer, led both teams at bat with four safe hits. Clark had three hits for Bessemer.

Both teams played fine ball in the field, with only two errors being chalked up.

Admiral Magruder is returned to navy command. Now if Colonel Mitchell is "forgiven" by the army, who will write for the magazines?—The Omaha Evening World-Herald.

Unfortunately, the law can't distinguish between those who break it just for fun and those who defy it for profit.

Brown Boss Of Bantams

By QUIN HALL
A lanky string-bean from Panama is now conceded to be the boss of the bantamweights. Al Brown, the first colored boy to hold the title since the days of the immortal George Dixon, had to win a long string of decisive victories before he finally hung up his hat and went to bed in the throne room.
It looks as if Brown is capable of holding a long lease on the joint but nothing is certain and any minute some comparatively unknown scrapper may come along and make a rug out of Al.
The victory that won Brown his title was scored over Vidal Gregorio. Prior to the match the New York Boxing Commission decided that the winner of the tilt might advertise himself as the "Defending Champion," but the win was so decisive that almost everyone is willing to let Brown advertise himself as really "The Champion." All at bay kayoed Gregorio in the thirteenth frame. Only Vidal's courage and fighting heart saved him.
Brown is the best of the bantams. He has fought everybody both here

West Pittsburgh Team Defeated By Danceland

The Danceland team leaders of the City-County league, staged a three run rally in the eighth frame, that was sufficient to defeat the West Pittsburgh team 10 to 8, in a game played Saturday, at the Danceland field.

Nineteen safe hits were made by the Danceland team off Lazar and Quinn. Simmons and VanEman pitched for the Danceland team and were found for twelve hits. Layton and Braky had the longest hits of the game, triples. Agnew had a pair of doubles for the winners. Simmons and Lazar each had seven strikeouts to their credit during their stay on the knoll.

Glenn Wright To Undergo Operation

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 22.—The news that Glenn Wright will submit to an operation on his ailing throwing arm this week means that the Brooklyn shortstop will be out of the line-up for the remainder of the season. Wright, who splintered a bone in his right shoulder while playing handball in Kansas City last winter, has been little service since he came to Brooklyn from Pittsburgh in the Jess Petty trade.

The British shouldn't get the wrong impression from Mr. Dawes' reluctance to expose his shins. He's a college man, all right.

Athletics Hold Healthy Lead In Chase For Flag

Cleveland Indians Aid Macks By Taking Series From Faltering Yankees

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, July 22.—The international warfare which has been raging on both big league fronts shifts today, with the Western Clubs of the National League returning to their own stamping-grounds and the Western teams of the junior organization invading the East. Cleveland at Philadelphia and Brooklyn at Pittsburgh are the only games scheduled for today.

In the American League the Yankees lost a full game on the road today, just concluded, with a record of ten wins in seventeen starts as against twelve victories and seven defeats for the Athletics. They are ten and a half games behind the Mackmen this morning.

Although the Pirates relinquished first place in National League to the Cubs for one day (last Saturday), they won eleven out of fifteen games on the Eastern trip and improved their position. The Cubs also won eleven games, but lost six.

Pirates Lead Again
The Pirates regained first place yesterday when Remy Kremer scored a 5 to 3 decision over Benton of the Giants, who was ruined by errors made by Lindstrom and Leach. The Giants won ten and lost eight against the invading Westerners, but lost ground to the leaders.

A pitching duel between Dazzy Vance and Pat Malone, leading strikeout artist of the National League, resulted in Brooklyn's first victory of the year over Chicago, 3 to 1. Vance whiffed ten batters.

Manager Robbitt Maranville's dream of landing a first-district berth for the Braves took on a rosier hue as the Beaneaters two-timed the Cardinals, 4 to 2 and 4 to 3, for their third consecutive victory.

Indians Take Series
Cleveland won the series from the Yankees, three games to two, by knocking out Hoyt and plastering a 6 to 4 defeat on the champions. Manager Huggins and Buster Gehrig were assisted by Umpire Van Graff in squawking over a decision, and Babe Ruth, the $75,000-a-year-punch hitter, delivered a pinch-single.

Kyle Graham held the Athletics at bay for ten innings but went down to a 10 to 7 defeat when the Macks nicked him for four runs in the eleventh. Bing Miller led the Philadelphia attack with five hits.

Ted Lyons of the White Sox held the Braves to four hits and won in a romp, 10 to 0. Sam Gray's 6 to 5 victory over Washington was the Brownie star's thirteenth triumph of the season. The Reds, with Lucas on the mound, subdued the Phillies 8 to 5.

Italians Trim Maplevale 18-9

The Italian A. A. defeated Maplevale Sunday afternoon at the Maplevale field by a score of 18 to 9. The Italians went wild in several innings to score a lopsided triumph.
Augustine on the hill for Maplevale was sent to the showers and Riley put in to stem the tide of basehits. The Italians in the sixth, eighth and ninth struck out Shiek and Maplevale got to Shiek in the second frame for four runs and were held scoreless until the fifth when they sent two more over the plate. In the seventh the Maplevale team scored their final runs, three of them.
Kaufmann, the Italians' right fielder, was the star hitter of the game with five bingles, including one double. "Bill" Augustine, Grist and Shiek hit triples. Shiek pitched a fine brand of ball, fanning 11 men and giving up but eight hits. The Italians played ragged ball in the field with five errors.

PIRATES AGAIN IN FIRST PLACE

Defeat Giants 5-3 While Chicago Loses To Brooklyn Sunday

NEW YORK, July 22.—Pittsburgh's Pirates regained first place in the National League today by winning their second game over the Giants, 5 to 3, while Chicago was losing to Brooklyn. The victory gave Pittsburgh an even break in the four-game series.

The Pirates won the game in the fifth inning when they bunched five hits off Benton with a miff by Leach for four runs.

Mrs. Margaret Jones Is Taken By Death

Prominent Club Woman And Civic Worker Dies After Long Illness Here Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 22.—Mrs. Margaret Jones, aged 56 years, wife of Thomas W. Jones of 14 Pittsburgh Circle, passed away Sunday at noon at her late home. Mrs. Jones had been suffering from an incurable malady for three months and had the hearty sympathy of her many friends here.

Born in Wallace Run, Pa., 56 years ago, Mrs. Jones moved to Alliance, O., in her early childhood, where she married her first husband, and moved to this city 23 years ago. She took a prominent part in the activities, religious, fraternal and social, lending her sterling Christian character for the betterment of many projects.

She was a member of the Presbyterian choir many years ago, past mistress of the Order of Eastern Star, past president of the American Legion auxiliary and a member of the Lioness-Brigade club. Her wealth of character and sterling qualities that endeared her to her many friends here will be sorely missed.

Immediate survivors are her husband, Thomas W. Jones; three sons, Howard, Clifton and Robert, all of this city, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. J. M. Howell, Mrs. Lewis N. Cook, Mrs. C. C. Crubaugh, all of Alliance, O.; J. D. Jones of Akron, O.; D. Mark Jones of Salem, O., and Robert E. Jones of Chicago.

Funeral services will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and efforts are being made to secure Rev. Frank Reber, a former pastor, to officiate. The services will take place in the First Presbyterian church. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

Bill Marks Is Discharged From Local Hospital

They will dine in the mess hall, be entertained by the vast array of talent in the camp, and later be taken on a tour of inspection.

Country Club News Digits

ELLWOOD CITY, July 22.—Various bits of news gleaned over the week end at the Ellwood Country club are reported as follows:

Saturday a club match between the members was staged with about twenty players participating. It resulted in Theodore Markwort winning the medal by a few points over his less fortunate fellow players.

Fred Loeffler, the club pro, while out-of-bed, is still under the doctor's care, and has been forbidden to give any lessons for at least two weeks. Last week, it is reported, John Heberling who was taking a maulie shot up on the green, yelled "fore" whereupon one of the players turned toward him, just in time to receive the ball in his hip pocket. John was undecided just how to proceed from there, and the incident occasioned many humorous comments.

Sunday afternoon many golfers took advantage of the perfect weather, and at five o'clock the tan was lifted as usual on women players, and the beautiful links was dotted with the bright garments of the fair golf enthusiasts.

Wednesday Poland will bring a group of players here for a return Inter-Club match. With them will be a distinguished golfer, Congressman Copper of Ohio. The local golfers journeyed to Poland some time ago and were defeated by two points.
